Seek Murderers After Chicago Gunman Is Slain

EIGHT VETERAN ELKS DIE FROM POISON IN BARREL OF NEW CIDER

Lynchburg, W. Va.—Eight veteran Elks, residents of the Elks national home at Bedford, 25 miles from here died late Monday at the home, according to advices received here Tuesday morning from what is thought to have been fresh cider poisoned by arsenate of lead used for tree spraying.

The cider, it was stated, was bought from a farmer in a barrel and it is thought the barrel was used last spring in connection with spraying. Several other veterans, residents of the home, are ill from the cider.

JURY FINDS WOMAN SHOT FROM BEHIND

Richland Center Man's Story Cast in Doubt by Verdict in Shooting

By Associated Press

Richland Center,—After Richland-co officials had decided that her death was accidental, a coroner's jury Monday returned a verdict holding that the death of Mrs. Flossie Chitwood, 22, was not accidental nor suicide, but she had been shot from behind by some hand not determined.

Mrs. Chitwood was the wife of Holly Chitwood, 26, and died from a gunshot wound received on the afternoon of Nov. 4 in the town of Akan, 10 miles west of Richland Center.

Chitwood at the time said that while working in a lane leading to his home he saw a squirrel and called to his wife to bring his gun. When she arrived the squirrel had disappeared in a hole in a tree and Mrs. Chitwood took the gun back to the house, according to the husband's story.

Hardly had she reached the house when he heard a shot and ran to the house to find his wife dead, Chitwood said. The bullet entered the head back of the ear and came out at the front of the head.

The story satisfied Dist. Atty. O. D. Black, Coroner J. T. Barto and Sheriff D. O. Dietzman and they decided an inquest was not necessary. Neighbors however were not satisfied and insisted on a probe. Last week a jury was summoned and viewed the premises and the body of the dead woman.

Testimony was taken Monday before a large crowd that packed the inquest room in the courthouse. The testimony showed that on the Saturday before his wife's death, Chitwood had taken a woman, named as Maude Schoonover, on a 24-hour joy ride to La Farge, La Crosse and Ontario, stopping at an Ontario hotel for the night. It was testified that Chitwood had been keeping company with the woman for some months, taking her to dances and fairs and had been intimate with her.

Mrs. Chitwood was the mother of two children, 2 and 4. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lem Smith of North Clayton, Crawford county. Chitwood's family is also highly respected here.

No arrests have been made in the case.

LABOR SECRETARY WILL QUIT OFFICE

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—Secretary Davis of the labor department has informed President Coolidge he wishes to retire from the cabinet after March 4, next.

Mr. Davis is the only cabinet member who has indicated he desires to retire, it was said officially Tuesday at the White House.

Meanwhile it was said, the president has given no consideration to other possible changes in his cabinet and has expressed the hope that Mr. Davis will remain.

WAGE EARNER IS EMPLOYE, STATE COMMISSION SAYS

By Associated Press

Madison—Holding that an individual hired to perform certain duties at a specified wage per day is an employe and not an independent contractor, the supreme court Tuesday reversed a ruling of Judge E. Ray Stevens in Dane-co circuit court and upheld an award of the state industrial commission in the death of A. R. Carter of Rice Lake. Carter, a deputy state conservation warden, was killed in the employ of C. O. Ronning.

Three Slayers Enter Florists Shop of Gunman and Even Score

POLICE QUESTION MANY

Theory Is 28 Men in Nine Cars Blocked Traffic to Assist Escape

By Associated Press

Chicago—Gang rivalry, beer runners' feuds, gambling troubles and a fight of lieutenants of rival gangs over a woman were theories followed by police Tuesday in their search for the three men who Monday shot and killed Dion O'Bannion, notorious gunman and gangster in his florist shop.

While they sought Mike Carrozo, labor leader and Margaret Collins, pretty blonde, involved in a fight eight months ago with Louis Altiere and John Bates, alleged lieutenants of O'Bannion, the police took precautions to prevent more killings in reprisal.

All known enemies of O'Bannion questioned after the shooting had been released Tuesday when they satisfied investigators they had no connection with it. But as police inquiry progressed it was disclosed that more than three men who fled after firing seven bullets into O'Bannion, may have been involved in the actual slaying. A theory that possibly 28 men, using nine automobiles, effectively blocked traffic in the vicinity of the florist shop while the slayers escaped in their automobile, was evolved after witnesses were questioned.

PROBE THROUGH NIGHT

Through the night, detectives and state attorneys questioned suspects Among the questioned were Herschie, Max and Davie Miller all sworn enimies of O'Bannion. While they expressed satisfaction at his death, they denied connection with it. O'Bannion had been accused of bombing Herschie Miller's dry cleaning plant and of attempting to shoot to death Herschie and Davie in front of a downtown theatre.

Earl Weiss, John Torrio, Vincent Drucca Altiere and "Yankee" Schwartz all frequently questioned, in connection with the high jacking and been running troubles were questioned and freed.

Search Tuesday also was being made for David Loftus, chauffeur at the flower shop, who commandered and automobile and pursued the slayers Monday and has not been seen since.

FLIERS HONORED BY NEW ORLEANS

By Associated Press

New Orleans, La. — The United States Army, world fliers, Lieuts. Erik Nelson and Leigh Wade, with their associates, Lieuts. John Harding and H. O. Ogden who were officially welcomed to the state and city Monday on their arrival from Houston, had a busy day ahead of them Tuesday.

They were turned over to local posts of disabled war veterans and the American Legion whose guests they were for the day. They were assigned places of honor in the Armistice day parade and later attended a banquet and a dancegiven by the American Legion.

The official reception was held at the city hall where Mayor McShane conferred honorary citizenships upon Lieuts. Nelson and Harding who piloted the namesake of New Orleans on the world girdling trip.

WHISTLES MARK ANNIVERSARY OF ARMISTICE DAY

Business Rests All Over Country to Commemorate End of World War

While Appleton did not declare a holiday Tuesday to observe Armistice day there were reminders that this is the sixth anniversary of the end of the World war.

The day when peace from the great struggle in Europe was declared was reechoed at 11.05, the hour when firing ceased, by a din of factory whistles throughout the city. Many cities took this as a signal to pause for a few moments of silence in respect of the dead of the World war but this custom was not carried out here. Business went on as usual.

Flags were afloat all through the business section and on public buildings and at some of the homes. The breeze prevalent all day kept them waving lustily as if in demonstration of the joy of the occasion.

Practically the only public form of public observance will be the pageant "To Arms for Liberty," at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel under auspices of Oney Johnston post of the American legion. It is under direction of Dr. Earl L. Baker of Lawrence Conservatory of Music and is free to the public. The pageant reechoes the war days and the coming of peace. Music will be furnished by 120th Field Artillery band.

Two groups of war veterans are planning social gatherings for the evening. Rainbow division veterans will stage their annual Armistice day ball at Armory G, and Red Arrow chapter is holding a dinner at 7 o'clock in the French room of Conway hotel.

Oshkosh—Armistice day was effectively celebrated in Oshkosh Tuesday. A squad of the American Legion fired a volley at Riverside park, near the business district, at 11 o'clock, followed by bugle calls from all parts of the city in relays. Much business activity ceased for five minutes at that hour in honor of soldier dead. At the cemetery graves of war heroes were decorated. A $10,000 granite monument to soldiers of the World and Spanish wars was completed Tuesday, but the dedication will be held on Memorial day.

New York—New York's Armistice day program included two minutes of silence at 11 o'clock ushered in by radio broadcasting of taps and a bugle call, with every activity in the city ceasing for the period of contemplation.

Patriotic, civic, religous and business organzations were prepared to join with city officials in the celebration commemorating the day on which hostilities ceased six years ago.

Although many business offices requested employes to cease work at 11 o'clock for two minutes, few closed for the day.

Paris—Armistice day this year is for the first time a full holiday in France. Although Parliament voted it a legal holiday long ago, application of the law has been suspended mainly for econimic reasons with business interrupted for only minutes of silence.

Tuesday everything is closed except the places of amusement. The feature of the celebration in Paris will be at the tomb of the unknown poilu in the Arc deTriomphe with President Domergue, Premier Herriott and his cabinet in attendance.

Two hundred and fifty tattered flags of disbanded regiments will be carried by reserve officers headed by General Fouraud and his staff, from the Invalides to the arch.

Chicago—A minute of silence with all traffic halted and business suspended, special observances by veterans' bodies and programs by various organization marked Chicago's celebration of Armistice day.

Banks, the stock exchange, the board of trade and all schools were closed. Public functions included a program by the Two Hundred Second Coast Artillery, school children's exercises and banquets.

BERGER LEADS BRAUN BY MARGIN OF 1,830

By Associated Press

Milwaukee — The official canvass of the vote for representative in congress fro mthe Fifth Wisconsin district for the City of Milwaukee, was completed at noon Tuesday. Both Victor L. Berger, Socialist, and Ernest A. Braun, Republican, are claiming the election. The returns from the city of Milwaukee give Berger a lead of 1,830 votes. The official figures are: Berger 30,903; Braun 29,072. There are 10 precincts left to count, according to the canvassing board.

GRANT CHANGE OF VENUE IN MADISON DEATH TRIAL

By Associated Press

Madison — Change of venue to Rock-co was granted by Judge Hoppmann in superior court here Tuesday in the case of Patrick J. Powers, former Madison policeman charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting last spring of Peter N. Posephy, University of Wisconsin student. The change was requested by defense attorneys.

Posepny was shot at the rear of the Power home late at night on May 12.

EMMA GOLDMAN NOW ANTI-BOLSHEVIST, BRITISH PRESS SAYS

London—"Emma Goldman when she makes public her feelings toward the Bolshevists, will be the best advocate of anti-Bolshevism to whom England has ever listened," says Rebecca West, the writer, in a statement to the Daily Express.

"She is a disappointed woman, thoroughly disillusioned with what she has seen in Russia," Miss West adds. "She blamed her deportation to Russia from the United States as the opportunity of a lifetime, but the time she spent in Russia changed her theories to a great extent, and Bolshevism is no longer her great enthusiasm."

Miss Goldman has been in London for several weeks but her presence was not generaly known until Monday.

MILITIA RESTORES QUIET IN KENTUCKY ANTI-NEGRO RIOTS

Clashes Resulting from Fatal Shooting of White Drive Blacks Away

By Associated Press

Harrodsburg, Ky. — With six men in jail here charged with rioting and a detachment of Kentucky National Guards on duty at the Dix River dam, a hydro-electric project under construction near here, quiet had been restored Tuesday at the scene of clashes Monday between white workers and farmers and Negro laborers.

The clashes resulted from the fatal shooting of Edward Winkle, white worker at the dam, in an attempt to holdup. A general exodus of Negroes from the camp followed an attack by the white workers and farmers from the vicinity. When county officials reported they were unable to handle the situation, Governor W. J. Fields dispatched guardsmen from Frankfort. Indication were that the majority of the Negroes assured of protection had returned or were returning to work.

A large body of Negroes, many scantily clad, fled to Burgin, where they spent a night in a rock quarry huddled about camp fires. Officials of the construction company and George Geddes, head of a Lexington employment agency, asserted reports which gained circulation among the Negroes that some of their fellow workers had been killed and buried at the dam were unfounded.

MRS. HARDING NEAR DEATH, MEDIC SAYS

Widow of Late President Inaugurated Armistice Day Custom in Washington

By Associated Press

Marion, O.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding was reported as hovering between life and death Tuesday by her physician, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, who reported her condition as unchanged from Tuesday's. Little hope was held for her recovery.

While mistress of the White House, Mrs. Harding with her husband inaugurated the custom of visiting the tomb of the unknown soldier on each Armistice day and she had been looking forward to celebrating the signing of the armistice again Tuesday, her friends said.

THUNDERSTORMS SWEEP MIDDLE WEST STATES

By Associated Press

Chicago — An extensive thunderstorm area somewhat unusual for this time of the year, prevailed over the northern part of the middle west Tuesday with storm warnings displayed on Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie, according to the weather bureau. No reports of damaging local storms have been received, according to district Forecaster Henry J. Cox, but the storm area includes Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Indiana, with lower temperatures coming, possibly reaching freezing here by Thursday, but with no serious cold anywhere anticipated.

BULL MOVEMENT CONTINUES ON GOTHAM MARKET

Interest Switches from Railroad Shares to Industrials, Report

By Associated Press

New York—The bull movement in the stock market was resumed with vigor Tuesday as speculative interest switched from the railroad shares to the industrials. While there was a decrease in the number of large blocks of stock dealt in during the first half hour, there were more individual sales, the volume of business in that period falling slightly below 300,000 shares.

Heavy profit taking was again apparent in the railroad list although Southern Pacific was pushed up 2 points to 101¾, the highest price in several years; Katy Preferred advanced 8 points to a new top at 60 and the common attained a new peak price at 25¼; up one.

More than a score of industrials broke through their previous maximum prices for the year with oils, tobaccos and coppers giving the best demonstrations of groups strenigth and the textiles and sugars making brisk recovery.

The new highs included American Can, American Smelting, Ray Copper Butte Copper, and Zinc, Pure Oil Shell Union, United Drug, Wells Fargo Express, Texas Guld. Sulphur, American Tobacco, A. and B. and Consolidated Cigar.

Savage Arms, Mathieson Alkali, American Sugar reining and American Woolen sold two or more points above Monday night's closing figures.

Trading on the stock curb and cotton exchanges was suspended for two minutes at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning in observance of Armistice day.

HOLD WOMAN WHEN POISON IS FOUND

Medics Find Arsenic in Milk and Meal Served Husband in Green Bay

By Associated Press

Green Bay—A tea cup containing a heavy sediment analyzed to be high in arsenic content, and in which Mrs. Angeline Petrie is alleged to have served milk to her husband and two substantial samples of oatmeal porridge of which he had partaken, also analyzed as poisoned with arsenate of lead, were among the exhibits introduced by the state Monday during the testimony of C. W. Meuhlenberger, Madison, state toxicologist, in the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Petrie, who is charged with the attempted murder of her husband by poison.

With Mrs. Petrie quarantined in her home by diphtheria, and her husband in a hospital recovering from what may prove to be poison administered to him by his wife, Judge Monahan admitted the testimony of Dr. Meuhlberer upon motion of Hugh Minahan, of counsel for Mrs. Petrie.

DOMESTIC ROW BLAMED

Mrs. Petrie is charged with having attempted to destroy her husband by systematically feeding small amounts of lead poison to him in his meals. Petrie has been in ill health for some time and upon his entrance to a Green Bay hospital recently evidence of poison led to the arrest of his wife.

The Petries are parents of four children. Their domestic life has been stormy, Mrs. Petrie charging her husband with habitual drinking and claiming now that his poison case is but the concoction of a mind deranged by moonshine. She denies Petrie's charges of infidelity and duplicity and states that on one occasion she knocked a drawn razor from his hand and upon another she discovered him during the night loading a shotgun. She believes her husband was bent upon taking her life or his own on both occasions.

Passing Of Senator Lodge Is Beginning Of New Era, Lawrence

New Senate Leader Must Be Chosen from West in Order to Keep Harmony in G. O. P., Is Claim

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C.—The hand of fate which gave the Republican party at the polls last Tuesday a new lease of life has suddenly imprinted itself on the situation in the United States Senate as it affects leaders and committee chairmen, something hardly less important than anything which happened in the election of a new congress last week.

The death of Senator Lodge means no merepassing of a veteran senator. Nor does it signify simply the addition of a younger senator to the administration group from New England. It marks the ending of one epoch and the beginning of another in the history of the Republican party. It may carry a significance far into the future for no man more surely affected the foreign policy of the United States since the war than did Henry Cabot Lodge.

Around the Massachusetts senator were grouped the "irreconcilables." At first he was not of them openly but at heart his sympathies were with the senators who not only wanted America kept out of the league of nations but also the world court created by it. It is no secret that Mr. Lodge's contrariness on foreign policies brought about in recent months some sharp expressions of disapproval among the intimate friends of Calvin Coolidge who thougbt a Massachusetts senator should stick with a Massachusetts president.

SEEK SOLIDARITY

Something new has yet to be devised to bring about solidarity of party n the senate. The successor of Senator Lodge undoubtedly will be Senator Curtis of Kansas. He is a loyal supporter of the administration and was favorably considered for a time for the vice presidency at the last Cleveland convention. There is talk of Senator Fess of Ohio and Senator Wadsworth of New York. Either would be satisfactory to the president but the fight of the Republican party is in the west and a leader must understand the west to keep party harmony.

As for the committee chairmanships, Senator Borah will succeed Senator Lodge At first glance this may seem to spell trouble for the administration policies, including that on Russia but on foreign policy too the Republican party and the administration needs not an obstructionist but an aggressive leader. Senator Borah is a practical person and a daring personality. He is flexible and the administration will get more done with Borah's cooperation than with his opposition.

BORAH RANKING MEMBER

Senator Borah is the ranking member of the judiciary committee but as between that and foreign relations he is more likely to choose the latter Senator Hiram Johnson of California will succeed Senator Sterling as chairman of the immigration committee and Senator Cummings probably will go back to the chairmanship of the committee on interstate commerce after March 4, when his duties as presiding officer of the senate are ended and Charles G. Dawes becomes vice-president.

When Senator Borah becomes chairman of the senate foreign relations committee he leaves as his successor in the judiciary committee, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska. This gives the western progressives another committee chairmanship but so far as vital legislation is concerned the only important shake-up are those which affect the senate committee on interstate commerce and the foreign relations committee. Senator Smoot, a loyal administration supporter, remains in charge of the finance committee and Senator Warren of Wyoming at the head of appropriations.

Mr. Robinson who is a son of Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, called Tuesday at the White House and after a conference with President Coolidge went to confer with Secretary Wilbur. The post of assistant secretary has been vacant since late in September, when Theodore Roosevelt resigned to make his unsuccessful campaign as Republican nominee for Governor of New York.

SUSPECT FIREBUGS IN CHICAGO BLAZE

Chicago — Belief that incendiaries touched off a fire which destroyed a lumber yard and an apartment building at an estimated loss of $200,000 early Tuesday was expressed by police who found Ludwig F. Larson, the watchman, bound and gagged, near the yards. Larson said he was surprised by three men in the lumber yard office, robbed and bound.

Close to a hundred residents of the four-story apartment were driven to the street with loss of most of their belongings.

STATE LAW FAILS TO BAR CITY ORDINANCE

By Associated Press

Madison—Presence of a state law covering an offense does not bar prosecution under a city ordinance, the supreme court held Tuesday in affirming the judgment of the municipal court of Milwaukee-co in the case of the city against Walter Stachelski. The case involved the Milwaukee soft drink parlor licensing ordinance.

It was contended by the defendant found guilty that since the state prohibition law provides for licensing such establishments and penalties, the city ordinance is ineffective.

Judge Makes Ruling in Trial of Representative Hill, Maryland

REVISION IS EXPECTED

Decision Hinges on Word "Non-intoxicating" Used in Volstead Act

By Associated Press

Baltimore, Md.—In the trial of Representative John Phillip Hill in the United States court here Tuesday on alleged violations of the Volstead act, Judge Morris A. Soper ruled that the "one half of one per cent clause in the Volstead law does not apply to beverages made in the home for home consumption.

Judge Soper said:

"Congress seems to have used the word 'non-intoxicating' differently in one section than it did in another. In my mind congress plainly intended that persons manufacturing cider and wine exclusively for use in their homes should be in a class by themselves, otherwise there is no apparent need for this section. (section 29).

"The only reasonable explanation for congress signalling out homemade cider and wine makers is that congress did not intend to punish men for such manufacture unless the beverage is intoxicating in fact.

"This opinion seems to be borne out by an opinion expressed in the United States Senate in Sept. 1919, when the Volstead act was being debated, by the chairman of the committee in charge of the bill.

He expressed the opinion that when this section was added to the bill, by amendment that cidar and fruit juices made exclusively for use in the home must be intoxicating in face.

The ruling was the result of a lengthy argument Monday by counsel for Hill in the United States District Attorney Amos W. W. Woodcock. The government chemists testified that Col. Hill's homemade wine had an alcoholic content as high as 11 per cent. Hill's defense was based on the alleged ambiguity of Section 29 of the Volstead act which permits the manufacture of homemade fruit juices and cidar, provided they are "non-intoxicating," but forbids their sale to any one except those who have a permit to make vinegar from the cider.

Washington, D. C.—The finding of Federal Judge Soper in the case of Representative John Phillip Hill at Baltimore Tuesday is regarded here as necessitating a revision of the policies and regulations followed by the prohibition commissioner.

RONDOUT ROBBERY READY FOR COURT

Prosecution Has Five Confessions in $2,000,000 Mail Holdup

By Associated Press

Chicago — Five alleged confessions in connection with the $2,000,000 Rondout, Ill., mail train robbery last June, were in the hands of the prosecution Tuesday, as it prepared to begin the trials of William Fahy, former postal inspector, and eight others charged with the robbery.

Brent Glasscock, arrested with his wife in the Battle Creek sanitarium and charged with having engineered the robbery, announced he would plead guilty. Shortly after his alleged confession, squads of inspectors left on a hunt for the robbery loot, only a small part of which has been recovered.

The other alleged statements were made by Joe, Jesse, Willie and Willis Newton formerly of Texas Tull Newton, another brother, also is involved. the state indicated it would center its efforts on the prosecution of Fahy James Murray, west side politician, and "Tull" Newton.

FOUR UNHURT AS BLINDED BUCK BLUNDERS INTO CAR

Superior—Four young persons had a miraculous escape from death Sunday evening when a large buck, frightened by the glare of the head lights from their car, crashed into the machine, overturning and completely demolishing it. None of the occupants received so much as a scratch.

The auto, driven by Louis Morierarty, was proceeding north on highway 35 near here. With Morierarty were William Webster, Misses Irma Campbell and Dorothy Allen.

According to Morierarty, the buck crossed the road before the car approached and then, as the machine came abreast of him, he turned and crashed directly into the headlights. The force of the collision sent the car spinning around with the buck caught in the front wheels. The wounded animal gave a leap, landing in the ditch with the machine overturned on him and the four occupants, pinned beneath.

Webster and Miss Allen extricated themselves and then, with the aid of passing motorists, rescued Morierarty and Miss Campbell, in imminent danger of injury from the struggling deer.

MAIL TRUCK LOSES WHEEL ON TRACK AHEAD OF TRAIN

A United States mail truck driven by Carrier Joseph Roemer was in imminent peril of being annihilated about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon when an axle broke and a wheel came off, leaving the car stalled on the Union st crossing of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, while the puffing of the approaching 4:08 passenger train was heard in the distance. Employes of the Tuttle Press came out and helped the driver move the car to safety.

Can't Send Man By Airmail, U.S. Official Says

San Francisco—Chester N. Weaver, an automobile man who bought a raft of stamps and addressed himself to his wife in New York, intending to go by air mail, must walk or take a train.

Mr. Weaver presented himself at the post office Monday afternoon with $718 08 worth of stamps affixed to his 184 pounds of person and thought everything was fixed for him to make the trip.

At the last moment a telegram from Assistant Postmaster General Henderson threw cold water on the plan and Weaver was forced to sell his stamps back to the government.

Mr. Henderson's telegram admitted that in time it might be possible for persons to travel by air mail, but said that just now it was impossible, due to the ruling that no one but department officials can ride in the air mail planes.

SEEK GREY CAR IN ROGERS DEATH CASE

Constable Says He Has Arranged for Interview with Rogers Companion

By Associated Press

New Haven, Conn.—Constable Gustav Uhl, North Haven, Conn., who is investigating the presence of the mysterious gray car which was seen on the North Haven turnpike the night that Charles Rogers, son of the Rev. Talbot Rogers, Fond du Lac, Wis., was killed, said Monday night he was arranged for an interview Tuesday with Marjorie Schneider, in whose car Rogers was found dying.

Uhl has been looking into the story that tracks were discovered leading from the spot to a swamp and that a gray car was seen standing near the Schneider car and was seen disappearing five minutes later. Uhl said he had found nothing tangible in his investigation.

Ward Church, town prosecutor for North Haven, said he had learned nothing which would tend to reopen the case but that reports of a mysterious car were being investigated.

Coroner Mix said there was no move to reopen the case.

$200,000 SUGAR STOCK SAVED BY BUCKET LINE

Green Bay—Heroic efforts on the part of a bucket brigade formed by the employes of the Green Bay branch of the Menominee river Sugar Co. saved the plant and about $200,000 worth of sugar stored in a nearby warehouse when fire broke out on the roof of the building. The fire destroyed most of the roof, the damage being estimated at $2,500 by George McCormick, president and general manager of the company.

A Fearless andDaring Episode of Modern Day Life

THE law is mighty, but mightier even than the law is love. For love, when it has reached the very crest of its delirious frenzy, will recognize no obstacles, give no heed to any power other than its own!

This is a drama of hearts which withered under the crushing fist of the Law, and bloomed again under the warmth of an innocent child's faith. It is packed from end to end with tremendous, gripping moments of drama, lightened by the most delightful humor. It is a picture for every member of the family—and every member of the family will love it!

BOLD AUTOMOBILE THIEF TAKES CAR MONDAY AFTERNOO

Police Seek Clews That Will Lead to Recovery of Stolen Machines

While police are awaiting word from distant communities regarding automobiles that were stolen in Appleton last week, comes now the report of another stolen car. A Ford Tudor sedan belonging to August Brandt company was left out in front of Groth's Motor and Bicycle shop on College-ave and was stolen some time between 3 and 6 o'clock Monday afternoon The automobile carried a garage license number, Star-471-G, and had an extra spare tire in the rear.

A Chevrolet touring car, with license number B-115/165, was stolen in Menasha at 7:15 Monday evening. It had three Goodyear tires and one Justice tire.

Report of the theft of a car in Appleton was broadcast by radio on Saturday night and was heard by a number of local radio users. It was the Ellingson car which was taken away from the Eggert hotel last week. No clew has as yet been furnished the police on the discovery of the Ford coupe that was stolen from Robert Rohm, rural carrier, Saturday night.

MOTORCOPS ACTIVE AS FOOTBALL FANS HURRY TO MADISON

A number of Appleton automobilists Saturday learned to their sorrow something about the high cost of attending Badger football games. They are not thinking particularly of the price of admission at the stadium, nor of the cost of meals. Transportation expenses are the chief item of expense, some of those who made the trip have the following advice to offer: Start out early in the morning and take your time. The reader may ponder how gas can be saved by going slowly. It is not the gas; it is the fine in court. Yes the Winnebago-co motor cops were on the job again.

LO, FULL OF MOON, SLEEPS ON TRACKS

Wesley Skenadore, an Oneida Indian, was in such a condition Sunday that he was entirely unregardful of of his own safety and unaware of the danger of an approaching interurban car Sunday.

When Motorman Joseph Goss of the Kaukauna-Appleton car was preparing to turn at the sharp curve near the Riverview sanatorium between Little Chute and Kaukauna at about 3:20 Sunday afternoon, he saw what appeared to be a man attempting suicide. The man lay stretched between the two rails with his face on the ground.

The man was dead to the world from the effects of moonshine. He was lifted off the track and laid upon the bank. Later Marshal James Gerritts of Little Chute took the Indian in custody. After a night's lodging in jail, Skenadore was fined $5 and costs by Ralph Lowell, justice of the peace at Little Chute.

Liver Trouble Now a Known Cause of Premature Old Age

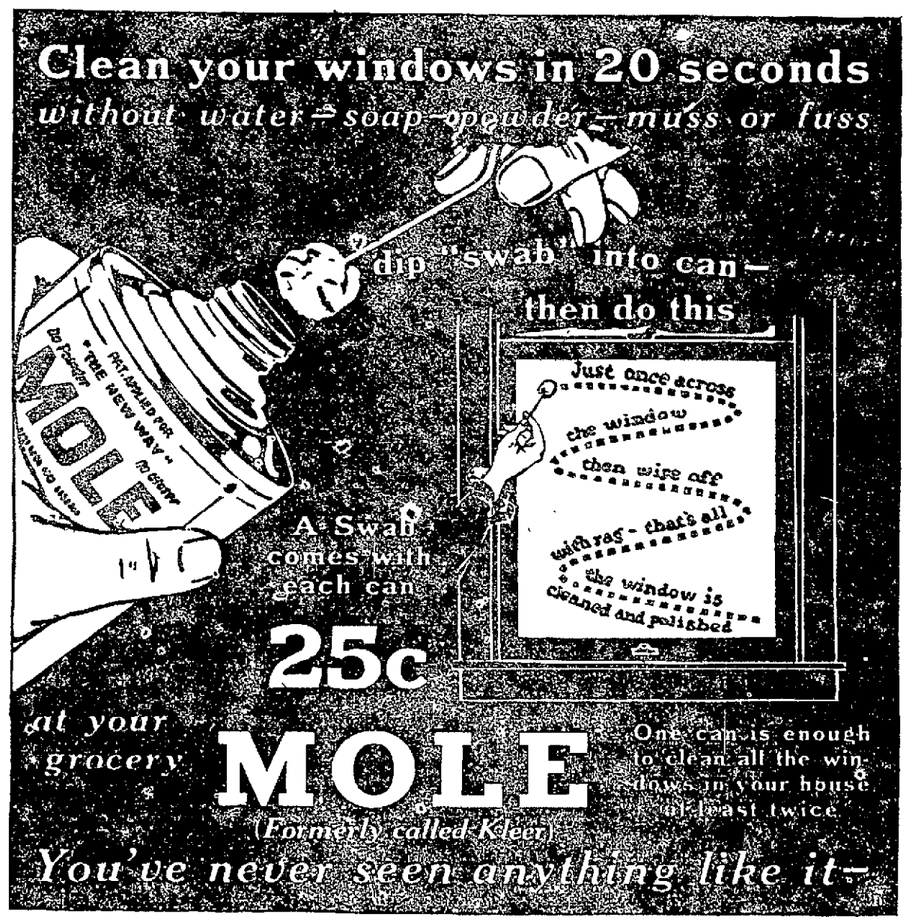

Medical science knows that poisonous waste in our bodies would actually cause death in a few days if not eliminated by Nature's processes. Because it destroys these deadly poisons, the liver is our most important organ—the body's wonderful purifier.

The liver prevents the formation of body poisons that cause diseases of the heart, kidneys, blood vessels and are chiefly responsible for premature old age.

When the liver becomes weak, the poisons are sucked up by the blood and health is broken down. Physicians know that the liver cannot be regulated by drugs, but a safe Nature substance has been discovered which will at once increase the vital bile supply. The discovery is purified ox gall.

Get from your druggist a package of Dioxol. Each tablet contains ten drops of purified ox gall. In 24 hours the poison toxins will be removed. Your liver will be regulated. Blood purification will begin. Sallow skin will clear. You will feel so much better you will know you have found the cause of your ill health. Dioxol tablets are harmless, tasteless and cost less than two cents each.

These genuine ox gall tablets are prepared only under the name "Dioxol." If any tablet is offered you under another name, refuse it. Accept only Dioxol in the original, genuine package. adv.

HENRY CABOT LODGE

Henry Cabot Lodge was a curious mixture of perverted and healthily used talents. He was a man of large ability in a diversified field. He was an excellent lawyer, an authority on the constitution, and an author and historian whose writings will endure. He was an indefatigable worker and devoted practically his entire life to public service.

We prefer to think of Mr. Lodge in the capacities we have referred to rather than as politician and representative of Massachusetts in the senate for thirty-one years. In this record there is much to criticize. Mr. Lodge's usefulness in public life was largely destroyed by his intense partisanship. He could not see two sides of any question involving in the slightest degree party regularity. He had no conception of consistency or political honesty. Any policy sufficed to obstruct or defeat his opponents and to keep his party and himself in power. Time and again he was forced to renounce his own opinions, to obtain party advantage.

In all the years of his service in the senate, it is a significant fact that no single piece of legislation of real note stands to his credit. His greatest achievement was the leadership of the senate irreconcilables in the conspiracy against the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations. Beside the man he thwarted in that national crisis he was a pigmy in statesmanship and breadth of view, yet he triumphed. However, to Mr. Lodge personally it was a triumph of bitterness rather than of principle.

Still, Mr. Lodge was for years a large asset to the Republican party. His skill in politics and his influence in the senate in support of administration measures were of great importance. In foreign affairs he occupied a commanding position and in the later years of his life inclined to the support of the movement to give the senate more authority in the negotiation of treaties and the shaping of international policy—a principle which in previous years he had strenuously opposed. His Americanism was vigorous and uncompromising.

Mr. Lodge's claims to distinction lay in the measure of his ability rather than in the use of that ability. Some of the books he has written will live long after his public career is forgotten.

FOR AGRICULTURAL PROSPERITY

President Coolidge is going forward promptly and sensibly with the plans to improve agricultural conditions. He is not doing it with a blare of trumpets or with proposals of a sensational or startling nature. He is going to work along lines that parallel economic laws. He is not going to try and suspend the law of supply and demand, nor is he going to ignore self-help that the farmer must put forward in his own behalf. Neither is he going to have the government do for agriculture what agriculture can best do for its own prosperity.

The first thing Mr. Coolidge is going to do is to make a thorough investigation of agricultural conditions. He is not going to do this through politicians, nor congressmen, nor senators, but through authorities on agriculture and men of large practical experience in farming. That is the way to get at a problem of this kind. There will be a minimum of politics and the maximum of service and efficiency. When this committee is ready to report we shall know something definite about the problems of agriculture, as they may be improved by both legislation and business ingenuity.

Agriculture should during the next four years find in Mr. Coolidge an able and understanding friend. What he may do for farming through recommendation and suggestion should be worth more than all the wild schemes put forward by politicians, designed principally to get votes.

ARMISTICE DAY

Governor Blaine in his Armistice Day proclamation asks the people of Wisconsin to "venerate the memory of those who died in the cause that they believed to be for democracy and world peace." Why the word "believe?" Is there any doubt outside of Wisconsin that the United States entered the World war to make the world safe for democracy and do its part toward ending all wars? Why this reflection on the understanding of millions of American young men who went out to fight for a cause Mr. La Follette and certain other Wisconsin politicians willfully misinterpreted or were incapable of comprehending? Evidently Mr. Blaine was thinking more of the La Follette version of the war than of the real significance of Armistice Day.

The people of the United States know why they went to war in Europe to fight on the side of the allies. So do the four million men who actually bore arms. They know that they performed a service for America and the world of incomparable value to humanity and civilization. And there was just as much real patriotism and understanding in Wisconsin as in any other state. It was temporarily brought under a cloud by politicians who sought the favor of its large German voting population. Today it is happily cleared on this stigma and Wisconsin observes Armistice Day with all of the loyalty, fervor and deep national spirit that characterizes its observance throughout America.

This year on Armistice Day finds possibly the entire world at peace. There are no serious calls on the horizon anywhere. The outlook for continued, even permanent peace is better than at any time since the war. We are clearly making progress toward that goal. Signs that the war was not fought in vain are multiplying. Reason and justice are gaining a stronger foothold every day.

HUGHES TO GO?

A report has gone out from Washington to the effect that Mr. Hughes is to retire from the cabinet and that Col. George Harvey is to be appointed secretary of state. It is devoutly to be hoped that this report is untrue. We do not know of any change in the official family of Mr. Coolidge that would bring more real regret and disappointment to the American people than the substitution of Harvey for Hughes. Let us believe the story is only the invention of an over-zealous correspondent.

Mr. Hughes is undeniably remaining in the cabinet at a personal sacrifice. He can make a great deal more money practicing law, and it may be that he is in need of a larger income. But the fact remains that he is one of the outstanding figures of the cabinet, and that his public service has been of the highest order. People have great confidence in Mr. Hughes personally, and this confidence reflects itself in his direction of foreign policies.

We know of no one more poorly fitted to occupy the important post of secretary of state than Col. Harvey. The exhibition he made of himself as ambassador to London, his lack of tact and judgment, his narrowness and personal prejudices, all incapacitate him for handling the affairs of state. Surely Mr. Coolidge would not consider such an appointment. The country would like nothing better than to see Mr. Hughes remain in the cabinet, and with him Mr Mellon and Mr Hoover.

WHEN THE BOY HAS ENTERED COLLEGE.

Dear Pete:

Your dad dropped in to read a part of your last letter to me this morning and I promised him I would write to you. He is not quite certain whether he has told you enough of the things you need to know, and between you and me, Pete, I believe you still have something coming to you in the way of inside information, though I am sure your dad has acquitted himself much better than most of them do in this respect.

If you haven't already discovered it you surely will learn soon that there are two standards of morals doing service in the world today. First is the standard your mother expects you to follow, simply that you will always respect all womanhood for your mother's honor. There can't be anything the matter with such a standard, can there? The other standard will be urged by some of your college associates, and they will endeavor to justify it by every possible argument; under this standard a fellow may break the moral law if or when he so desires, since there are some women without virtue.

I hope this doesn't sound too crude, Pete. It is just what I would say to you if we were having a little talk together. You will inevitably feel sooner or later the pulling power of the undertow, the ingenious arguments, taunts and other influences brought to bear by those who would corrupt and seduce the callow youth. Why they delight to do this is a mystery. Perhaps it is because misery likes company. But whatever their motive which makes those who have transgressed desire to lead others astray, certain it is that such unwholesome influence plays a part in the ruination of many a boy of your age, Pete. Now I want to be sure that you shall be armed with a factor of strength against that very influence, for you'll need it for self defense.

During our preparation for the great war the athletic, health and medical authorities of the country, perhaps recognizing the dangers which beset many lads leaving home to receive their military training, frankly and forcefully assured the young manhood of the country that absolute purity and continuance is not only compatible with but essential for athletic or physical efficiency and the highest degree of health Of course we have always known this, but the object the authorities sought in voicing the fact anew was to prevent the unsophisticated youth from being dragged down by the undertow

If I remember correctly, you gave your mother a pledge against smoking while you are in college. That was a mighty good thing. By keeping that pledge you develop self control, and that's the sign of a man, after all.

I hope to hear from you occasionally, Pete, and don't forget, when there is any little thing you want to know, I'm here and always glad to hear from you.

Sincerely yours,
OLE SAWBONES.

CORRECT, SIT DOWN

A student up at Appleton high school who carries a horse shoe and a rabbit's foot in his pocket is this one in the physics class who didn't know anything about the day's lesson:

Professor: What is the usual conductor of electricity?

Confused student: Why—er—

Prof: Wire, thats right. Now what is the unit of measurement in electricity?

Student: What?

First one again: Correct sir, it is the watt.

With his luck, the Kid could make LaFollette speeches in the Boston library and get away with it. Look what happened to him in the geography class when he was in the grades

ROLLO

Wary Captain Quells Mutiny On Dreadnought

(From A Book of Famous Ships, By C. Fox Smith.)

The deserters confirmed the view that the crew would make a desperate attempt to raid the provision store during the night. At eight bells the attack began, but the sight of the reinforced garrison aft soon quelled the mutineers' ardor, and in spite of the defiant attitude still kept up by the ringleaders, Finnigan, Sweeney and Casey, the resistance rapidly crumbled away. One by one the rebels threw their knives over the side, while the captain, to show his good faith, handed over his pistols to one of the passengers.

Finnigan, however, still obstinately refused to own himself beaten, and his sullen refusal to eat humble pie brought the old Adam in his captain to the surface. Finnigan found himself knocked head-over-heels down the forecastle scuttle before he knew what hit him.

A search revealed a knife hidden in side his shirt, and his lieutenants, Case and Sweeney, proved to be similarly heeled.

"Now, men," said the captain, "let it be understood that you are to jump when you are spoken to, and instead of walking you are to run to obey the orders given! The last order I gave you, which you disobeyed,' was 'Haul taut the weather mainbrace' I now repeat it, 'Haul taut the weather mainbrace!'"

And the Bloody Forties jumped' They hauled away with such a will, says Capt. Samuels, that he feared they would spring the yard.

Coffee was now served out to all hands, except the recalcitrant Finnigan, who still refused to apologize He was then put into the "sweat box" in irons and in half an hour he gave in and asked the captain's pardon, adding that whoever called him (the captain) a coward was a d——d liar.

And there is a good deal of dry Yankee humor in the captains rejoinder: "You may leave out the d——d.' If anyone is going to swear on board this packet it is myself!"

Ready Riches Hamper Genius

(Violet Bonham-Carter, in Good Housekeeping)

Art? What have "idle riches" done for that? By rights they should have produced, they should have created, but so far as output goes their contribution has been disappointing. One often hears the suggestion made that young people of artistic promise should be "endowed" to create. "If only he had a little more money, and leisure—what great things he would do!" Would he? I believe sordid as it may seem, that the wolf at the door has often been one of the most powerful incentives toward artistic creation

Of course there are volcanic gifts like those of Shelley or Blake that erupt spontaneously and irresistibly, regardless of the consequences But the whole, great artists have been not goaded on to creation by need Shakespeare, Chatterton, and (coming a long way after these) Walter Scott, Doctor Johnson, Anthony Trollope On the whole, great artists have been not only hard workers, but men who have had to work hard.

Unusual People

EXPERT ILLUSTRATOR

A woman is probably the most experienced and expert paleontologic illustrator in the United States today. She is Miss Frances Wieser of the U S. Geological Survey, who combines rare artistic skill with the patience of a scientist. She has pictured in pen and ink and brush drawings every tiny line and point, curve and shadow, scientifically exact of queer looking fossil echinoderms, trilobites, and other specimens, dating back hmany millions of years ago. This feat is impossible of attainment by photography.

300 Eagles Hear Lodge Work Praised

About 300 members of Fraternal Order of Eagles and prospective members attended the booster meeting of the organization Monday evening in Eagle hall. The speakers represented Manitowoc more than Appleton, it was discovered after the program had begun, for each man who spoke either was born in that city or had lived there many years.

Judge Albert Schmidt, Manitowoc, past state president and chairman of the State Old Age pension committee, gave a stirring address on Why I am an Eagle, explaining the benefits he had received from the organization. He said that he was proud of the record of the lodge in sponsoring and fostering such national measures as Mothers day, auto, child labor laws, compensation insurance, and the old age pension.

Judge A. M. Spencer, who lived near Manitowoc for many years, gave a patriotic address, and especially extolled the patriotic spirit shown by the Eagles during the World war. Eagles have paid nearly a million and a half dollars, he said, to dependents of members who gave their lives in the war, each dependent receiving $1,000.

Among the musical hits of the evening was the song by Captain Fred Heineman, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" accompanied by his son Judge Fred V Heinemann at the piano. The Harmonic Aces and the Eagles Fife and Drum corps also played many selections N J Gallipeau gave several impersonations and short stories.

The initiation of the big class will occur on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 30

MRS. BUSH TELLS OTHER WOMEN

How Pains in Side and Dragging Down Feelings Were Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Massena, New York.—"I had terrible pains in both my sides and a dragging-down feeling that affected me so that I could hardly walk, and I got run-down. A friend who had taken Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it and I have taken it with the best results. I do my housework and also some outdoor work on the farm. The Vegetable Compound has given me back my health and I cannot praise it enough. I am perfectly willing that you should use these facts if my letter will help other women who still suffer."—Mrs. DELBERT BUSH, R. F. D. 1, Massena, N.Y.

The spirit of helpfulness shown in the letters we are constantly publishing is worthy of notice.

These women know by experience what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do. Your troubles are the same as theirs.

If you have pains and a dragging-down feeling and are nervous and irritable, profit by Mrs. Bush's experience and give the Compound a trial.

Finds Kellogg's Bran "Easy way to avoid constipation" after suffering for years

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It can lead to many others. Twenty years' suffering with constipation undermined this man's health. Kellogg's Bran restored it—as it has done for thousands. This is what he says:

"Gentlemen:
After eating Kellogg's Bran twice a day for one month I find it not only an 'Easy Way to Avoid Constipation,' but an easy and most pleasant way to cure it. I have been troubled with constipation . . . for more than twenty years . . . after adopting the milk and bran diet I find my stomach greatly improved, and find it a specific for constipation.
. . . I deem it only justice that you should know what your product has done for me, and what it is capable of doing for others."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran relieves mild and chronic constipation because it is ALL bran. It brings sure results. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine in nature's own way. Don't experiment. Only ALL-bran can be 100 per cent effective.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring permanent relief—or your grocer returns your money. You should eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

The flavor is delicious—nut-like—cooked and krumbled. Enjoy it with milk or cream, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the delightful recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by grocers everywhere.

LEGION SQUAD IS ALL THROUGH WITH MANITOWOC TEAM

Athletic Relations with Shipyards Severed After Last Sunday's Game

Kaukauna—Whether the Kaukauna legion football team will play another game before calling quits for this season will be decided by the players themselves within the next day. The management has an opportunity to book one more strong team. It has been definitely decided that no game will be played on Thanksgiving day. The Milwaukee Laphams were eager to secure another engagement with the locals and asked for that date. Due to the fact that several other cities in this vicinity are staging games on that day and because it has not been customary to spoil the players' day by keeping them in training, the management was forced to refuse the offer.

All relations with the Manitowoc team have been severed following the burlesque football exhibition the team was subjected to in the Shipyard city Sunday. Several of the local players came out of the ordeal in bad shape.

"Now that Manitowoc has gained its one ambition, by rotten officiating and not through any superiority of the squad, "declared Manager Rennicke Monday, "We will be satisfied to call it quits with them. In fact, I doubt whether the members of the team would stand for another meeting such as they went through Sunday."

Mr. Rennicke has written to a few of the men who are considered authorities in the world of sports and will inquire as to the legality of Manitowoc's last touchdown.

"The battle is over and lost," Rennicke said, "a decision cannot change that, but it will determine definitely whether the Kaukauna players were imposed upon or whether they really did not know the rules." The touchdown in question came when Manitowoc kicked off to Kaukauna, the oval landing behind the goal line without touching a Kaukauna player. The ball bounded under the fence out of the playing field and between two cars parked near the fence. The ball was tossed back to the field by a youngster standing near and was immediately pounced upon by a Manitowoc player. "Tony" Hertl of Manitowoc, who was officiating, declared it a touchdown for the Shipyards and no amount of wrangling and consultation of rules could change his decision.

Social Items

Kaukauna—A card party at which chicken booyah will be served will be given Wednesday evening in Holy Cross church hall by the ladies of the parish. Prizes will be awarded at cards.

A card party and dance will be given Friday evening in Elk hall by the Catholic Womens' Benevolent society. The Electric City orchestra will furnish music.

Mrs. George Buerth was surprised at her home, 140 E. Second-st Monday evening by a group of neighbors on her birthday anniversary. Cards was played. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer won high prizes while consolation awards were taken by Mrs Fred Merlach and Henry Kayzers.

The monthly meeting of the Senior Christian Endeavor society of Reformed church was held Monday evening in the church schoolhouse Plans for the annual banquet were discussed but the matter was laid on the table until the next meeting. The second Monday of each monh was made regular meeting night. The society will invite the Rev. J. B. Gleason, district field secretary, to talk at a Sunday evening service to be held the last Sunday in November and to be conducted entirely by the society. The society also voted to make arrangements to attend Christian Endeavor services in the Appleton Reformed church Sunday evening, Dec. 7 as there will be no services here.

KLAN INVITES PEOPLE TO HEAR ABOUT ITS WORK

Kaukauna — Odd Fellow hall was packed Saturday evening with two or three hundred people who accepted invitations to attend an open meeting of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Three speakers presented the purpose and ideals of the organization to the audience. Only persons who previously had received invitations and who presented them were admitted. The same people have been invited to another meeting to be held next Friday evening in Odd Fellow hall. Different speakers will present more of the work of the Klan.

NO CELEBRATION OF PEACE DAY AT KAUKAUNA

Kaukauna—Armistice day passed without any particular notice in Kaukauna. No holiday has been declared and no program or demonstration was put on by any of the local organizations. Flags were displayed throughout the city, however, indicating the people had not forgotten the day. Schools were in session as usual although many high school students were excused in the afternoon to allow them to accompany the football team to West DePere for its final game of the season.

PROMINENT MAN DEAD AT KAUKAUNA

Kaukauna—John Kilsdonk, 55, died shortly after 12 o'clock Monday evening at his home, 527 Maloney-rd after an illness of about three weeks. Mr Kilsdonk was employed at the railroad shops as clerk and was ready to go to work when he became ill. He was prominent in church work and in addition to being financial secretary of the local railroad clerks union, had been secretary of Holy Cross congregation for 18 years. Mr. Kilsdonk also served as financial secretary for local councilof Knights of Columbus, Vincent dePaul organization, the Holy Name society of Holy Cross church and was a member in the St Joseph society and the Modern Woodmen of America.

He is survived by his widow and four children, Mrs. John A. Verstegen, Little Chute; Martin J. Kilsdonk, Duluth, Minn; Mrs. William Busse, Mrs. Joseph Brown, Kaukauna; one brother, Albert Kilsdonk, Little Chute; two sisters, Mrs. John Van Eyck, Little Chute and Mrs. Anton Coopman of DePere.

CITY CUTTING DEBT AND LOWERING TAX

New London's Budget for 1925 Indicates Program of Economy

New London—In line with the economy program of Mayor E. W. Wendlandt's administration, the 1925 city budget just adopted provides for payment of half the floating indebtness this year and the other half the next with a reduction of the city tax rate the coming year to 3¼ percent and a further reduction promised for 1926. The plan contemplates leaving only the bonded indebtness of the city.

The budget provides for $291,701. This includes some bills of 1924 not covered in the 1924 budget and some large items such as $24,500 for a school site, $9,500 for a F. W. D. engine; architect's service, 5,000; Oshkosh street sewer pipe, $10,000; Wyman street paving, $15,354, and police clock system, $10,000. The proposed tax levy will be $158,223. The school budget totals $60,750. Teachers' salaries total $44,200. The highway and bridge item is $22,364.

Pine Tar and Honey Still Best for Chest Colds and Coughs

Our mothers and grandmothers would never be without pine tar syrup in the house for coughs, chest colds, etc. This was many years ago, but modern medicine has never been able to improve on this time-tested remedy. Doctors say the pine tar is hard to beat for quickly loosening and removing the phlegm and congestion that are the actual cause of the cough. At the same time pine tar and honey soon soothe and heal all irritation and soreness.

The kind that has been used with never-failing success in thousands of families for years is that known as Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. This is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in quick relief. It contains absolutely no opiates, narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to young children—fine for spasmodic croup. It tastes good, too. If you want the best, a medicine that often stops the severest cough overnight, be sure you get Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. It costs only 30c at any good druggist's.

WHITE RACE WILL BE DESTROYED IF THERE IS MORE WAR

Bishop Weller Is Chief Speaker at Armistice Day Program at Neenah

Neenah — Armistice day union church service at Neenah theatre Sunday morning under the auspices of James P. Hawley post No 33 of the American legion was attended by a crowd that filled the building to the doors. The speakers were the Rt. Rev. R. H. Weller, bishop of Fond du Lac diocese, who delivered the armistice day sermon, and L. Hugo Keller of Appleton, state department commander.

Among the gains of the war was the bgandismeit of autocracy and the union of the American people, said Bishop Weller. He rapped pacificism, declaring it leads to anarchy. He predicted another war would be the destruction of the white race. The world has always been organized for war and now the great need is for the Christian forces of the world to organize for peace and make another war impossible, he declared.

Mr. Keller was to have given an address on the American legion but arrived late and gave a brief talk during which he paid a tribute to those who sacrificed their lives during the war and called attention to the aims of the legion.

The program included the prelude by Miss Margaret Engler at the organ; invocation by the Rev. U. E. Gibson; song, Onward Christian Soldiers, led by Mrs. Kate Bradley Powers; reading, Rev. E. C. Kollath; prayer, the Rev. D C. Jones; taps, Musician Robert Ebert; silent moments, memorial tribute; offering for disabled serivce men, troop 3, boy scouts; duet, Mesdames Marie L. Boehm and Marjorie Schneller; benediction, the Rev. R. A. Heron; postlude, America, Miss Margaret Engler.

Neenah Social Activities

Neenah—The Fraternity club of the Methodist church will hold its first fall meeting at the church Tuesday evening. It will open with a supper and will be followed by a discussion on crime prevention.

James P. Hawley post, American legion, will give an Armistice day supper at 6:30 Tuesday evening at S. A. Cook armory. It will be for members and their ladies and a few friends and will be followed by a dance.

CREAM CLEARS A STUFFED-UP HEAD

Instantly Opens Every Air Passage—Clears Throat, Too

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed because of nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure antiseptic cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing and healing swollen, inflamed membranes and you get instant relief.

Try this. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Your clogged nostrils open right up; your head is clear; no more hawking or snuffling. Count fifty. All the stuffiness, dryness, struggling for breath is gone. You feel fine.

New Beauty Outside--but Same Good Chassis Thousands of Owners Know

Last year—Oldsmobile brought out the best light six that all its vast manufacturing facilities, plus the resources of General Motors, could produce! Designed right, at the outset—time tested and time proved—Oldsmobile now finds this splendid chassis too good to change! Refined? Yes! But in all its essentials, the Refined Oldsmobile Six is the same good car that many thousand owners drive and praise,—the same car that was the first to go from coast-to-coast in high gear! Oldsmobile still offers greater power, comfort, and pleasing economy!

Now, there is a new hood and radiator! More graceful lines! Cowl lights! Beautiful, enduring Duco satin-finish,—Oldsmobile blue on all the standard models and Oldsmobile weathered bronze on the open sport cars. There are also many refinements, such as the new grouping of instruments on the attractive panel, that will make you want an Oldsmobile Six more than ever! Before you buy,—be sure to see the Refined Oldsmobile Six at your local dealer's showroom. It's the key to uninterrupted and dignified transportation at low cost!

The Sedan---$1250

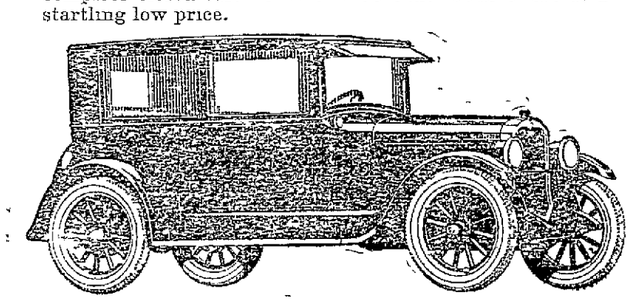

TRADITIONS of Fisher craftsmanship in fine coach are staunchly upheld in the commodious Oldsmobile "Six" Sedan for five passengers. Here is the ideal family car. Trimmed in tastily striped velour,—individually tailored to each body; hardware of rich design, all heavily nickeled. every detail is provided even to automatic windshield cleaner, rear vision mirror and specially designed visor. All-year-round comforts belong to the passengers of the Oldsmobile "Six" Sedan. In winter there are the weather-proof comforts of Fisher workmanship supplemented by a floor type heater. In warmer weather the cowl ventilator. spacious windows and adjustable windshield may be regulated to suit conditions. The four large doors, all hung on three strong hinges and regulated by invisible door checks, are equipped with locks that grant protection when parked.

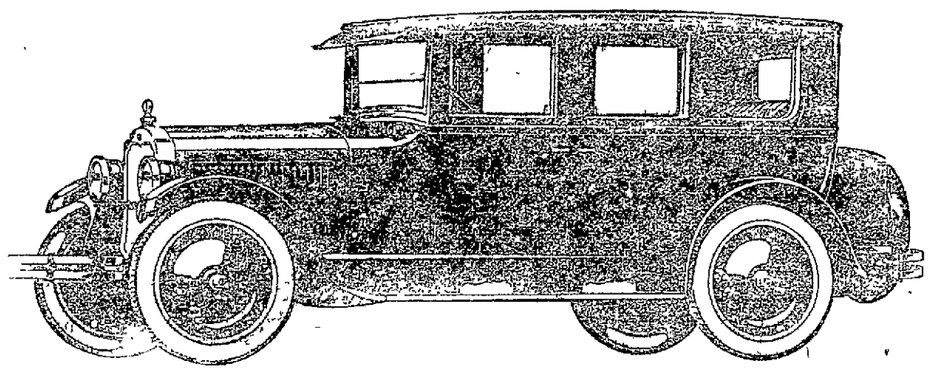

The Sedan, like all the models of Oldsmobile "Six." is a sensible car. Ownership of an Oldsmobile "Six" means a permanent investment in satisfactory and uninterrupted transportation. Still,—Oldsmobile offers more than bare transportation as is proved by a perusal of the comforts and conveniences afforded by the complete equipment.

The Coach--$1065

A COACH that's a genuine closed car is what Oldsmobile offers. Fisher has but one standard of quality and Oldsmobile offers it in this Fisher-built Coach. A staunch hardwood frame with joints that are mortise-wedged, glued. screwed and bolted is the nucleus around which the symmetrical all-metal body is built,—to uphold the standard of the Fisher insignia it bears. Comfortable capacity for five grown folks. the driver at ease in his permament coupe-style chair, and lots of leg room for all,—the Oldsmobile Coach is a roomy closed car.

Compare the Oldsmobile Coach with any other six-cylindered closed car at anywhere near the same price,—keeping in mind Oldsmobile's genuine plate glass in the extremely large windows, the sedan-quality velour upholstery. the Fisher ventilating one-piece windshield, the genuine Duco finish, the automatic windshield cleaner, the heavy rugs,—and Oldsmobile's Coach value is astounding. Step through the 33-inch doors that are hung on three strong hinges and examine the splendid workmanship in the well proportioned body, then, add to all this the fact that this refined body is offered you on the proven Oldsmobile "Six" chassis. When you buy a Coach buy a complete closed car. That's what Oldsmobile offers at a startling low price.

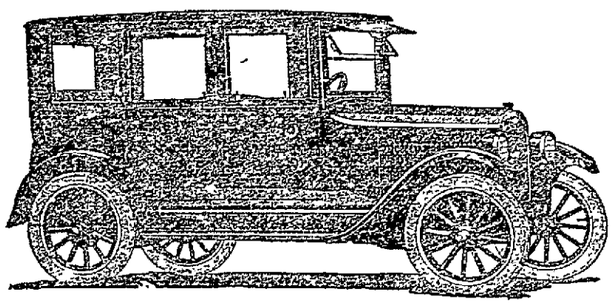

The DeLuxe Sedan---$1350

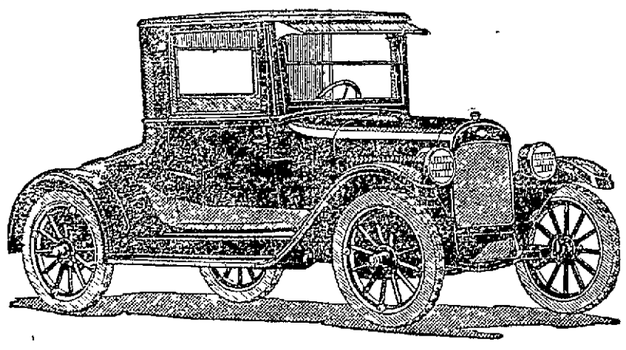

LUXURY that commonly can be had only for a greater sum of money comes at a very low price in the Oldsmobile "Six" De Luxe Sedan. In construction this car has the same fine qualities as the standard Sedan. In added refinements the De Luxe Sedan is richly appointed. Some things that account for pride of ownership of this model are nickeled steel double-bar bumpers, both front and rear; rear vision mirror; road spot light; genuine motometer with bar cap; large black enameled trunk mounted at the rear on a rigid platform; attractive aluminum body guard rails; Tuare steel disc wheels of the body color; four aluminum step plates; a fuel gauge on the instrument board; serviceable rugs; floor type heater; dome lights; automatic windshield cleaner; striped velour upholstery, beautiful enduring Oldsmobile blue Duco satin finish; and ignition, transmission and door locks.

Real personality is reflected in this five-passenger De Luxe Sedan by the splendid craftsmanship and materials that are self-evident on first examination. Best of all,—this Oldsmobile is one that you can depend upon to serve you well for many years.

HOMECOMING AT LAWRENCE STARTS ON FRIDAY NIGHT

2,000 Lawrentians Urged to Come Back for Lawrence-Hamline Grid Game

Over two thousand letters have been sent out to former students and graduates of Lawrence college by the students committees in charge of the annual homecoming Nov 14 and 15, urging and inviting them to come back for this event, which is expected o be the biggrest and best homecoming in the history of the school.

The first event will be at 7 30 Friday night, when a massmeeting with speeches will be held in the college gymnasium, followed by a torchlight parade At 9 o'clock Saturday morning there will be registration and distribution of the special Lawrentian issued by Pi Delta Epsilon and Theta Sigma Phi honorary professional fraternities for men and women in journalism

The big parade will start at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, followed by the sophomore frosh stunt at 11 o'clock when it is decided which class shall be allowed to paint its numerals on the campus rock The finish of the Marquette-Lawrence cross country run will take place about this time

The parade to Lawrence field will start from the college at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and at 2 30 the Hamline Lawrence football game will start From 5 to 7 o'clock sororities and fraternity will hold open house and fraternity and alumni banquets will be held

The banquet for members of both teams Lawrence "L" men and graduate "L" men will be at 6 15. At 8 o'clock Saturday evening the local alumni association will give a dance in Armory G

ON THE SCREEN

"LET NOT MAN PUT ASUNDER"

A daring exposition of the eternal question which has baffled men and women of all times Divorce treated from several angles and woven into an intensely dramatic photodrama that grips the spectator because it is intensely human and intensely real A strong, convincing story enacted against a background of splendor, spectacular effect and society. The locale shifts from American civilization to European culture in a chain of dramatic sequences in which Pauline Frederick and Lou Tellegen achieve new heights and win added laurels. The first time these two idols of the screen and stage have played opposite each other

THE SPIRIT OF THE U. S. A.

The engagement of Emory Johnson's epic drama of American life, "The Spirit of the U S A," now showing at the Majestic Theatre is a banner bound occasion, replete with all the thrills of a genuine patriotic event

The surge and sweep of American spirit soars and crashes through this extraordinary picture,the stars of which are Mary Carr and Johnnie Walker, who appear together as mother and son for the first time since their memorable triumph in "Over the Hill"

Many thrills race across the screen The picture embraces some of the greatest battle scenes ever put upon the silver sheet At least two of the greatest battles of the World War are duplicated in some of their most stirring phases A flood and a dam break also keep the action moving

Others in the cast, besides Mr Walker and Mrs Carr, are Carl Stockdale, Rosemary Cooper, Dickie Brandon, Cuyler Supplee, Gloria Grey and many others F B O distributes "The Spirit of the U S A"

NEW PICTURE HAS UNUSUAL SCENES

Something new in triangles, with three men creating a situation unique in cinematic drama makes the First National offering, "In Every Woman's Life" with Virginia Valli and a notable supporting cast one of the unusual offerings of the season.

This tensely dramatic play opened yesterday at the Elite Theatre and roused the audience to a high pitch of excitement It is doubtful if anything quite as dramatic as a scene revolving around the paralytic husband, who sees his wife attacked by his former rival for her hand has ever been depicted on the screen

There is plenty of variety of locale in "In Every Woman's Life" Some striking shipboard scenes and a reproduction of Sherry's famous night life center of New York at the height of an extravagant millionaire's party are among these

BUTTERFLY AT THE ELITE

A striking example of the ability of a screen comedienne to score heavily in a dramatically emotional role is offered in "Butterfly" the Universal-Jewel-Clarence Brown production, which comes to the Elite theatre next Thursday Friday and Saturday Laura La Plante, who became a comedy star over night by her splendid work in "Sporting Youth," plays the title role in the film version of the Kathleen Norris' novel and plays it with the finesse of a veteran "stager" Norman Kerry and Ruth Clifford are also in the large cast of favorites

News About And For Farmers

FUR FARM ANIMALS SO NUMEROUS THEY EAT HORSE A DAY

Skunk and Muskrat Industry at Shiocton Is Profitable Business Venture

BY W. F. WINSEY

Shiocton—Nobody knows the exact number of muskrats and skunks on the Shiocton fur farm because the animals run at large, live in holes and dens and never appear en masse on the surface to make the duties of the census taker easy. But is has been established beyond the shadow of a doubt that the enclosure of the company contains 40 acres of skunks and rats. Moreover, the number of skunks is large enough to devour the carcass of a 1,400 pound horse and to polish its bones at a single feeding.

The rats are self-sustaining and run at large throughout the year but when winter sets in workmen provided with picks, spades and gas masks, will dig out the skunks, ascertain the exact number, remove the atomizers from belligerent animals and establish the colony in specially prepared winter quarters where they can be properly fed and protected against the rigor of the weather.

BLACK SKUNKS SOUGHT

On being brought to light the white skunks will be culled out and their pelts will be sold at the market price but the surplus black skunks will pass into the ownership of breeders at a consideration of $10 each.

That the demand for black skunks for breeding purposes is persistent and strong is shown by the fact that the Shiocton farm has disposed of the surplus of last season and lately was forced to turn down a $1,500 order.

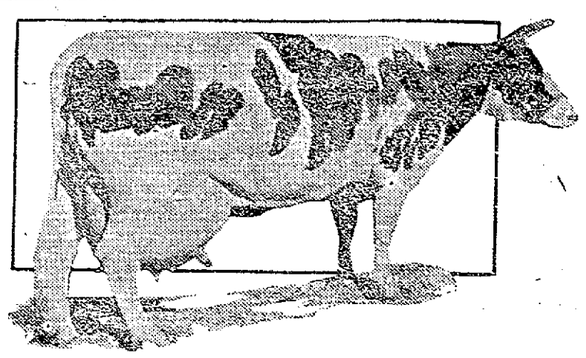

As skunks are permitted to run at large over the farm in summer, produce litters of seven or eight and subsist on cooked garbage and raw carcasses of animals they require inexpensive care in winter and finally sell at $10 each. The profits of skunk-raising therefore are greater than those of calf and hog raising.

FEW WILD ONES

Moreover skunk-raising is on a permanent, commercial foundation for the reason that wild skunks are on the decrease. They are approaching the point of extermination. With the constant increase in population, the demand for skunk pelts and the prices are increasing, and while the fur of the skunk has great intrinsic value, it is often sold as fur of rarer and more costly animals.

The only way that that valuable types of fur-bearing animals, including the skunk, can be preserved from otherwise inevitable extermination is by the process of domestication, such as has been introduced in this locality by the Shiocton Fur farm. In this process, if care and intelligence are exercised, the same grade of improvement may be recorded that man made in the dog, the horse and the cow, as compared to their previous wild state.

47 Quarts Of Milk A Day

Segis Pietertje Prospect, champion milk cow of the world, is so good she exceeded her own world's record. And that first record of 35,550.4 pounds of milk and 1416.5 pounds of butter has not yet been surpassed by any other cow! Her latest record is 37,381.4 pounds of milk and 1443.6 pounds of butter. She has averaged more than 47 quarts of milk a day for two years. The cow, a Holstein-Friesian, is owned by Carnation Milk Farms at Seattle, Wash.

Marl Makes Cushman Farm Precious Tract

BY W. F. WINSEY

Shiocton — Charles Cushman who lives a few miles west of the village on Shiocton-New London-rd recently discovered that his farm, several inches below the surface, is underlaid to the depth of several feet with marl. There is no question about the nature of the deposit as samples have been analyzed by the department of agriculture, University of Wisconsin.

For years, if he plowed below a certain level, Mr. Cushman noticed a peculiar subsoil at the bottom of the furrow that invariably turned white and crumbled on being exposed to air. After long drawn out discussions he and his neighbors decided that the unknown material was not blue clay because it contained tiny shells and did not bake in the sun as blue clay does.

This marl bed is located in the center of a large tract of fertile land in the township of Liberty and Bovina, Outagamie-co. It is especially adapted to the production of bumper crops of corn, cabbage, roots, small grain, grasses and cucumbers. Owing to the heavy draughts on the natural supply of lime made by successive crops inclined to be acid, it will be of inestimable value to the owners of these lands if for no other reason than that it is at the surface. Its use will prevent the expensive quarrying, crushing and long-distance-hauling of limestone.

Although a number of near-at-hand farmers have been liming their fields each season with the product of distant quarries, nothing has been done to develop the Cushman marl bed and to make the product available to local farmers. In fact, Mr. Cushman has not decided what to do with his marl except to try raising alfalfa on the soil above it.

ANNUAL HOLSTEIN BULL SALE WILL TAKE PLACE SOON

Twenty-five or More Purebreds Will Be Offered Early in December

Outagamie-co will have its annual purebred bull sale this fall, according to announcement of Edward O. Mueller, secretary of Outagamie County Holstein Breeders association. It has been impossible to set the exact day but buyers can count on the first week in December. Dr. William Madson's sale barn on Washington-st has been engaged.

Twenty-five bulls already have been consigned to the sale and more possibly will be added in order to give the buyers a good selection, according to Mr. Mueller. These are well bred and range in age from six months to more than a year. Some are decendants of leading sires of the Holstein breed and are from dams with official records.

The usual rule will be followed in consigning animals to the sale this year, that of requiring all bulls to be tested for tuberculosis before they are placed on the market.

It has been found by the association that bull sales are one of the chief means of stimulating the breeding of better cattle among the farmers. They are able to take advantage of the auction method and obtain high grade sires at a price they know is exceedingly low.

Further details of the sale will be announced later, together with the date.

CORN BORER AVOIDS CONTROL FORCES

Pest Is Moving from Great Lakes States into Ohio, Government Finds

Columbus, O.—Despite strenuous resistance by government scientists, the European corn borer has been gouging its way southward from the great lakes until now it is threatening Ohio state capital, 150 miles south.

More than 10 per cent of the total corn acreage of the United States is already infested by this insect, and this infestation is growing faster than state and federal authorities can cope with it. Lines have been stretched, quarantining the borer districts, guards have kept strict watch against exportation of corn from these districts, even parasites have been tried on the pest. Yet its march into the corn country is progressing faster than ever before.

"A field that had a 17 per cent infestation last year," declares L. L. Huber, entomologist in charge of the corn borer laboratory at Oak Harbor, O., "this year has 43 per cent of its stalks infested."

Yet the campaign against this worm has been more centralized than ever before.

"Last year," says Huber, "we had difficulty in finding egg masses. This year it is possible to find 50 or 60 eggs masses a day in some of the infested fields. More eggs could only mean more larvae."

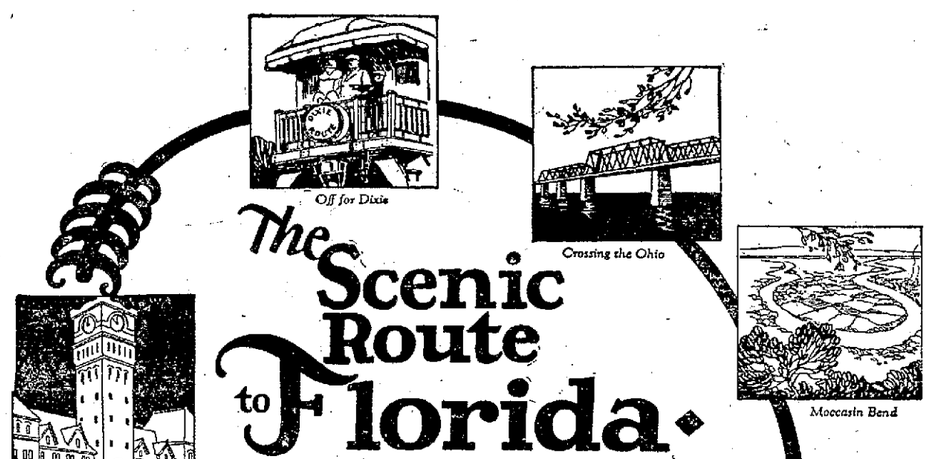

The only preventive against the borer, thus far found, has been burning and cleaning up the cornstalks in early spring. Those farmers who did so this spring will probably have a lighter infestation, Huber believes.

BUYING PUREBRED SOWS NEEDS CARE

Much Depends on Reliability of Breeder, Animal Expert Declares

Four points should be remembered in considering the purchase of a purebred sow. They are: the breeder, the hog, its pedigree and the price.

"Much depends on the honesty and reliability of the breeder, especially when the sows are purchased by mail or without first seeing them," says R. T. Smith, professor of animal husbandry at the States College of Washington. "When this is done the purchaser should insist that if the sow proves unsatisfactory it may be returned within a reasonable time, at the seller's expense."

"In selecting breeding stock," he continues, "avoid animals with weak backs and feet, shallow bodies, coarse open shoulders and thick ears. A good breeding sow has a strong smoothly arched back, strong straight legs, a body which is uniform in width and with all parts blending smoothly with each other.

"A six-months-old pig should weigh close to 165 pounds, adding 30 pounds more for each additional month up to two and a half years.

"Every purchaser of breeding stock is entitled to a certificate of registry which should be signed and sealed by the secretary of the record association

STORE HONEY BEES FOR COLD WEATHER

Madison—Store honey bees before freezing weather sets in or you'll have none to start the season next year, is the warning sent out to aplarists by H. F. Wilson, beeman at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture here.

"Now is the time to begin planning on just how to pack away the bees in their winter storage," he says.

"One must also see to it that the bees have plenty of stores to feed on during their long winter in the hive. It is a good plan to feed each colony of bees about 10 to 15 pounds of sugar syrup right after the honey gathering season is over.

"Bees should ordinarily be packed in the late October or early November and should be left in the packing cases until the spring temperatures are continually up to 60 degrees Fahrenheit or more. For outdoors, the packing cases should be made so that they will hold at least six inches of packing on the top, bottom and four sides.

"A small narrow tunnel should be made from the front of the hive to the outside so that the bees can fly out at all times when the temperatures are sufficiently high.

"When packing bees in the cellar, it is best to have the cellar absolutely dark; and the cellar should be kept so insulated that it will not change temperatures with the changes that take place out of doors. A constant temperature of about 45 to 50 degrees is best.

"Above everything else, try to keep temperatures constant, and the air free from excess moisture."

ONLY BEST POTATOES SHOULD BE STORED

Potatoes of only good quality should be stored over winter. They should be allowed to dry a little in the field, after digging, before being put into storage.

They may be stored in open bins in a cool cellar, or buried in the ground. If in bins, they should be only a foot deep, to prevent loss from decay.

For burial, a shallow hole about 6 to 12 inches deep, with a two-inch layer of straw, serves the purpose. Place the potatoes on the straw, cover again with straw and about four inches of soil.

Be sure to provide ventilation, just as for other root crops.

NEENAH AND APPLETON BOYS COMPETE IN RACE

A relay race between grade schools of Appleton and Neenah will be the feature of the Thanksgiving day program of the Y. M. C. A., as outlined at the meeting of the boys work committee Saturday evening. Boys from local schools will race boys from Neenah schools from Neenah to Appleton, each boy running about a quarter of a mile, so that about 28 will participate for each side.

Father and Son recreational night which was to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening, has been indefinitely postponed because of the many events of the week. It probably will be held during the winter.

What Your Neighbor Is Doing

(This column relates interesting things that are going on at the farms in this vicinity. Every farmer is invited to contribute items about his crops, herds, poultry or his farm itself. Mail or telephone them to "Farm Editor.")

Medina—According to V. G. Angus, station agent, five cars of sugar beets and twelve cars of cabbage have been shipped from Medina this fall. C. A. Langman has stored 2,000 bushels of potatoes. Large quantities have been trucked to Appleton, Oshkosh, Neenah Menasha and Kaukauna. The yield of potatoes is heavy but the total is very much reduced by rot. The disease shows up in both early and late varieties. Some growers will lose from one-third to one-half of their crop. After the rotten ones are sorted out, the rot does not appear to spread.

Medina—A. E. Cooper, who live the past eight years as a renter in a house owned by S. G. Rupple started to build a modern bungalow last week and expects to finish building operations in December. The Coopers are now comfortably housed in a garage in the rear of the new dwelling. Mr. Cooper had the misfortune to step on a nail a week ago and the wound has kept him indoors ever since. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Johnson, Rockford, Ill., who have been visiting the Coopers and other relatives, returned Saturday.

Dale—H. G. Price, station agent, reports that eight cars of potatoes, five cars of sugar beets and eight cars of livestock were shipped from this village in October.

Dale—Birdell Nelson reports that he has stored 3,000 bushels of potatoes for home growers and that last week he unloaded a thousand bushels a day on the average. Some potatoes run very good but others show dry rot. There is no demand for potatoes but when colder weather sets in, Mr. Nelson expects the market to pick up. The yield is large but a third of the crop is imperfect. A large number of growers are storing their crops at home.

From Every Angle Flax-li-num is TRUE Heat Insulation

In one's home there can be no substitute for the comfort and economy of true heat insulation.

Rooms that are cool in summer, and warm in winter. Coal bills so small they are unbelievable to people who know only the houses of the old type. In January, freedom from chilly mornings, cold floors, draughty hallways. And in July, from hot, sultry upstairs rooms that make restful sleep almost impossible.

These are the benefits of true heat insulation. They can be secured by knowing what true heat insulation is and how to get it.

What True Heat Insulation Is

The real proof of heat insulation comes on the job itself. Will it tear? Will it puncture easily? Will it warp or sag? Is it easy to apply right? Will it last as long as the building?

Flax-li-num meets these practical tests. It is a flexible board insulation. So tough that hammer blows won't damage it. Easy to handle, no danger of tearing. Stays in place, does not sag. Outlasts the building.

Flax-li-num is made one inch thick for roofs, and half inch thick for walls. The right thickness, the right material, the right form.

An Attitude that means profit to you

A good bank depends less on good laws than on good banking habits.

Good laws do not place personal interest in a bank's customers above a bank's interest in the size of their accounts. Yet that personal interest is good banking.

BE CAUTIOUS ABOUT GOVERNMENT CHANGE KELLER WARNS LIONS

More Education in Principles of American Government Is Country's Need

Pointing out the 'danger that the liberties and opportunities which Americans are enjoying might be lost without the people knowing it because they are not showing a sufficient interest in their government, Gustave Keller in an address before Appleton Lions club Monday, urged Lions and all other civic clubs to do their share toward educating the American people in their government and to do a little careful thinking about what is going on in this country. Mr. Keller pointed out several movements which he characterized as dangerous and urged the Lions to study and discuss these movements so they can act intelligently on them.

"Fewer people voted in the election last Tuesday than in the election four years ago, if the statements I have read are correct," Mr. Keller said as he pointed out the need of every loyal American selling the idea of taking part in the government to every one in this county.

"This isan individualistic government," Mr. Keller said. "The government exists for the individual, not the individual for the state. I believe that every individual should have the widest possible liberty in selecting who shall represent him and how he shall be governed."

CAUTIONS ABOUT CHANGES

Mr. Keller warned Lions to be cautious in accepting changes in the form of government and in surrendering the safeguards which the founders of America inserted in the constitution.

He showed the efforts that have been made and are being made to change the form of government in America, to abolish the Senate, to curtail the president's power of veto and to empower congress to set aside decisions of the Supreme court. Mr. Keller said these matters were carefully considered by the authors of the constitution and were placed in America's basic law as balances and checks so that mobocracy and passion and prejudice might never gain control of the government.

RAPS INITIATIVE

Mr. Keller condemned the initiative as drifting away from representative government toward direct government and he said this was dangerous. The recall also was denounced as being a weapon of mob rule and that the constitution already has provided for a recall by limiting the terms of office so that legislators and executives can be removed from office if their administration does not suit.

The speaker denied the often-made charge that there is no difference between the two great political parties of America, declaring there is as much fundamental difference between them now as there was in the days of Hamilton and Jefferson. He urged the Lions to inform themselves on political parties and to become partisans not because of expediency but because of what the parties stand for.

HOPE TO SELL 4,000 LICENSES THIS FALL

As the opening of the deer hunting season approaches, the demand for hunting licenses is increasing at a rapid rate. It has become necessary for John E. Hantschel, county clerk, to order 300 more licenses, in addition to the 3,700 previously received. Of the latter number several hundred have been distributed among the various sub-agents in the county. The county clerk is confident that nearly 4,000 licenses will have been sold this fall. This is the largest number of hunting licenses ever issued from this office. While the clerk thinks he has sufficient with 700 deer tags, the supply of 3,000 trapping tags has been exhausted, making it necessary to order 1,000 more. The deer hunting season will open Thursday, Nov. 13, and will close ten days later.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $5.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

54 MORE PUPILS WIN ATTENDANCE PINS

Superintendent Meating Rewards Youngsters Who Never Miss School

Fifty-four more pupils of rural and state graded schools of this county have been given recognition for perfect attendance during the past school year. Each one of the pupils has received from A. G. LEGION BAND PURCHASES HUGE BASS SAXAPHONE

The American Legion Saxophone Band has purchased a B flat bass saxophone and this giant instrument, the low tones of which resemble the pedal tones of a pipe organ, will form the foundation of the band and will be played by Gilbert Burmeister.

So many requests for enrollment have been received that no more beginners can be taken on E flat alto or C tenor saxophones. A few vacancies exist for those desiring to take up the C soprano, B flat soprano or B tenor. Regular rehearsals are held at the armory on Wednesday evenings.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE KING OF YUM YUM LAND

The king of Yum Yum Land was hungry.

He had had breakfast at eight o'clock: a large cantaloupe, a plate of ham and eggs, a dish of rolled oats and cream, five pieces of toast and marmalade and four cups of coffee.

For luncheon at one he had had a plate of soup, a fish, a whole fried chicken, two helpings of mashed potatoes, six ears of corn, tomato and cucumber and asparagus and sweet-pepper salad, and a plate of ice cream with crushed cherries all over it and sprinkled with nuts, and I don't know what all.

Now it was three o'clock and he was hungry.

"I'm hungry," he said to his prime minister. "I'm very hungry. In fact, I'm half starved."

The prime minister said to the lord high counsellor. "The kindg's hungry. He's very hungry. In fact he's half starved. You'd better do something."

The lord high counsellor said to the lord chamberlain: "The king's hungry. He's very hungry. In fact he's half starved. You'd better do something. Please see to it at once."

The lord chamberlain said to the lord mayor that the king was hungry and all the rest of it.

And at four o'clock it reached the ears of the cook who was just sending a tray of crumplets and tea to his Majesty the King.

"Crumplets and tea!" he said in dismay, "will never do for a starving kind. It's four hours to dinner and I haven't a thing in the house. What shall I do? I'll lose my job as cook if I don't find something wonderful at once."

Just then a peddler passed the kitchen door calling out, "Fine wares to sell! Fine wares to sell! Please come and buy! Fine wares to sell!"

"Be off with you!" cried the cook. "I've troubles enough as it is. His Majesty is starving to death and here I am with nothing but crumplets and tea in the house and four hours till dinner."

"Oh, but look!" whined the beggar. "I have the very thing you want. An old thin fork and a teapot of the same stuff."

"Be off!" cried the cook. "An old bent fork that looks as though it had been used for pitching hay! And an old teakettle that looks as though the highest office it had ever performed was to melt the ice on the butcher's pavement. Be off, I say."

"Not so fast! Not so fast!" said the Beggar. "These things are not to be judged by appearances. They will save you work and I only want to do you a favor. Hide me in the palace and they are yours for nothing. Both are magic and will bring you any kind of meat or drink by merely saying a charm. To the teapot say:

" 'Go do your best, do your worst. Or, teapot, dear, I'll die of thirst.'

"To the fork say:

" 'Oh, magic fork I'd like a treat. Please see what you can find to eat.'

"Whatever you wish for as you say these words will be yours at once."

"Eureka!" cried the cook. "My fortune is made."

That was what Mother Goose heard, and that is what she told the Twins as she passed them in the sky.

The Twins were on their way to Yum Yum Land.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO PRISCILLA BRADFORD

My dear Priscilla:—Leslie and John celebrate their wedding anniversary next Friday, and Leslie has been kind enough to say that I might invite you, my dear Priscilla. I hope you will delay your return home until after that event.

I hope, my dear, that you did not take the little altercation between John and Leslie the other day as of any great moment. I though at the time that John had no right to find fault with Leslie for bobbing her hair, but upon thinking it over, I think you are right in your suggestion that Leslie should have waited until she had spoken to John about it, whether she followed his advice or not.

I am finding out, my dear, that the young women of this generation, however, are very independent. Leslie is a very sweet girl, but she does not always defer to John's wishes in the same way that I used to defer to John's father's wishes.

She is also particularly bent on having her own way with little John and seemed very much put out when she arrived home and found that I had been rocking him to sleep.

The first night when she put him to bed in the dark, I nearly went mad he screamed so. I thought he was going to burst a blood vessel, but she would not allow me to go near him, and John agreed with her, although I was sure that the child would physically hurt himself.

For the first time since I have known leslie she spoke quite disrespectfully to me and said:

"Mother, I never dreamed that you would interfere in the regime that I had instituted for little Jack. No one rocks children now-a-days. It is very unscientific. The child should be taught to go to bed in the dark."

For three nights that poor baby sobbed and moaned himself to sleep and when I mentioned that I was sorry for him, Leslie said, in a very abrupt and decided manner:

"You certainly should be sorry for him, Mother, as it is all your fault. Babies learn very quickly. At that age they are completely self-centered little animals, and their physical likes and dislikes are all that they understand. I do not see yet why you should go into the room and take little Jack up after Sarah had put him to bed.

"Oh, I didn't do that," I said innocently "I undressed him and rocked him to sleep myself."

Leslie shut her mouth with a click of her teeth, and I could see that she was trying to keep from saying something very ugly.

"Your husband was always rocked to sleep, and I am quite sure, Leslie, if you had a child of your own, you would not be able to forego that hour of the day when a mother is happiest, that hour when she has her babe in her arms."

"You will forgive me, Mother Prescott," said Leslie crisply, "if I say that I think perhaps Jack would not be so selfish if he had been brought up scientifically."

MODERN ENGLISHMEN STILL STICK TO BEEF

By Associated Press

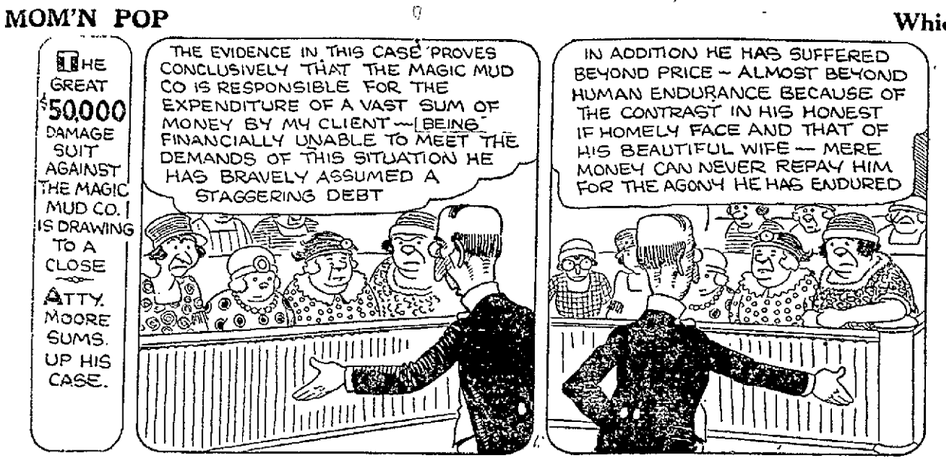

London — Modern Englishmen are living up to the title of beef-eaters which their habits in the pre-Victorian era assigned to them. Londoners are big meat eaters, particularly of beef, and last year an average of 37.8 ounces of meat a head was sold each week in London. The city's meat bill in 1923 amounted to $175,000,000.

Railroad freight rates in Switzerland will be reduced more than one-half of 50 per cent of pre-war schedules for short distances while those for long hauls will be 20 per cent below the ante-bellum figures instead of 26 above as now.

Expect Record Crowds When Blue Squad Meets Hamline At Homecoming

Saturday's Contest Will Be Last Game Played on Old Field by Lawrence Grid Eleven

When tickets for the Hamline-Lawrence football game, scheduled for Saturday afternoon on Lawrence field, were placed on sale at Bellings drug store and Alexander gymnasium Tuesday, indications were that every seat would be taken before the gates swing open for the tilt. Advance orders had been pouring in for a week and the managers of the homecoming of which the Hamline game will be the chief feature, expected the largest crowd of the year.

The seating arrangements will be the same as they were for the Carroll game two weeks ago. Grandstand seats will be reserved and an extra charge of 50 cents will be made for these, while general admission tickets are sold for $1. Bleachers have been elected on each side of the grandstand, and also on the south side of the field. Hundreds of fans were forced to stand on the sidelines at the Carroll game in pite of the special arrangements made to take care of the crowd, and Lawrence athletic officials urge all those planning to attend the homecoming game to get their tickets in advance and get to the Lawrence field as early as possible to avoid the rush.

The Hamline game will be the last college tilt staged on the old Lawrence field, as the authorities are planning to have the new stadium in readiness for next year's schedule.

PIGSKIN PRIMER

What change has been made relative to the kickoff in football from the custom of previous years?

The artificial tees used to get height as well as distance to the kicks have been eliminated. The kickoff is now made in a manner similar to that used in trying for a goal from placement, the ball being held by a player. Another change is that the ball is now kicked from the middle of the field instead of the 40-yard line.

What happens when a player interferes with an eligible opponent after a pass has been made?

No player of the side which did not put the ball in play shall in any manner interfere with an eligible opponent who has crossed the line of scrimmage. Such players, however, have the right to try to catch the ball or bat it to the ground in order to break up the play. If an eligible opponent is so interfered with, the penalty shall be loss of the ball to the offended side at the spot where the foul occurred. The down shall be the first.

Is there a difference in the penalty for holding with one side in possession of the ball?

Yes. If the side in possession of the ball is the offender the penalty shall be 15 yards. For holding by the side not in possession of the ball, five yards.

The Big Three were the main works. Princeton, Yale and Harvard played football. What the boys played in the outlying districts was nothing but a deep imitation, a shoddy substitute designed to snare the rural smacker.

When Walter Camp started the vicious practice of assembling an All-America eleven he bought a commuter's ticket between Cambridge and New Haven with a 10-minute stop-over privilege at Nassau, N. J.

One year a player appeared on Walter's All-America who had not twisted a vertebrae or pulverized a molar for one of the Big Three. This created a bigger sensation than the stage debut of Eva Tanguay in flesh-colored tights.

Back in 1906, about the time when the plain people in the hills were getting reconciled to modern plumbing, someone decided to cross football with basketball, the result of which was the forward flip.

This piece of pigskin Burbanking did more to put the big and little colleges on an even footing than all the high-salaried halfbacks, non-studying tackles and free-board ends that ever loafed through a winter semester.

Right away the pass reduced the baby elephants and the trained seacows to a minus value and elevated the nimble ankle and the sure catch to a position of ornate, if not gaudy, importance.

Little teams that hadn't been able to merit an agate line head in the week-end sporting news began crowding the ship subsidy bill and the Roosevelt campaign off page one.

Nowadays the unexpected is the expected. Any ham-and-egger is liable to step out and clout the Dempseys or the Leonards of the college world

Descamps Is 'Frost' As Second To Ring Artist

BY JOE WILLIAMS

New York — They call him the second. He sits outside the ropes and coaches some fighter in whom he is emotionally and financially interested. He is the harrassed soul who implores the battle to get up after the forty-second knockdown, shouting, "He can't hurt US, Bill. Tear into him."

Just how essential is a second to a prizefighter's success? Undoubtedly there are times when a capable second can be of infinite service.

Frequently a non-combatant will detect a flaw in the opposition's style quicker than the man in the ring. He can tell why the left isn't reaching the right spot, or why it would be better to counter with the right, etc.

LAME BRAIN SPECIALIST

Slow thinkers and beginners let their seconds fight their whole fights for them. Doc Bagley is making somewhat of a reputation here as the master mind of the ham-and-eggers.

Not all the so-called great seconds however, measure up when the pinch comes. Francois Descamps, who handles Carpentier, is supposed to be a miracle worker. In the matter of capturing the hard American dollar he undoubtedly is. But in all other respects he is just a missed swing.

I saw him handle the Frenchman in three fights, first against Dempsey, then Gibbons and finally Tunney.

DESCAMPS A LOST BALL

Now there aren't three fighters in the ring with more widely different styles. No smart battler would attempt ot fight the savage Dempsey for instance, the same way he would fight the cautious Tunney. It was evident Carpentier placed implicit faith in the voluble Francois.

At every opportunity Georges would look to his corner for advice and always Descamps would wrinkle up his features, bare his gleaming teeth and hold up the right hand.

Now everyone knows the right is Carpentier's best blow. But there must have been times during his American bout when an occasional use of the left for strategic purposes, we'll say, might have helped his cause.

It certainly required no great amount of ring wisdom to keep on suggesting that he swing with the right.

And, as Carpentier was getting nowhere at all the way he was fighting, it indicated a tremendous lack of resourcefulness in a man, meaning Descamps, who was supposedly hot stuff in his line.

CHANGED CARP'S STYLE

I was talking recently about Descamps to Willie Lewis, the old welterweight, and present manager of Abe Goldstein, bantamweight champion. Lewis taught Carpentier how to box.

"Five or six years back Georges was a really great fighter," assured Lewis. "His left was almost as good as his right. At least it was very dangerous.

"Then Descamps made a strictly right-handed swinger out of him, for no reason at all. Georges promptly lost 50 per cent of his effectiveness.

"Except in a business way Descamps was never of any real value to Carpentier. Whatever progress Georges made in the ring he made in spite of Descamps, not because of him."

NOTRE DAME PLANS TO BREAK NEBRASKA JINX ON SATURDAY

Chicago Gets Set for Overwhelming Victory Over Northwestern

By Associated Press

Chicago—Whether Notre Dame, so far this year invincible, can turn the tables Saturday on Nebraska, its jinx for years, is a question in Midwest football circles that surpasses interest in the Western conference games of the undefeated Illinois and Chicago teams with Minnesota and Northwestern respectively.

Last season the Cornhusker eleven defeated the Rocknemen, who might otherwise have laid good claim to a Western or national championship. The powerful Nebraska forwards broke through and halted Crowley and Miller before they reached the scrimmage line.

Nebraska displayed the same line smashing tactics in the game with Illinois early this season. Since the team had a layoff last week this power is undimmed and ready to be hurled into action by Coach Fred Dawson at South Bend Saturday. Coach Dawson has competent performers in Captain Ed Weir, tackle; Rhodes, left halfback; Bloodgood, quarterback, and Locke, the backfield sprinter. Dawson scouted Notre Dame at Wisconsin and is applying the results of his observations.

Coach Rockne's practice plan reaches its peak Wednesday when the Cornhuskers are due to arrive in Southbend. Notre Dame has had the game in view ever since the Georgia Tech melee and rehearsals are being devoted to a polishing process.

"Red" Grange, the Illinois ace, is resting from his labors in the Chicago game last week but will get into practice before Coach Zuppke's proteges leave for Minneapolis to meet Minnesota in the latter's conference finale. The Minnesotans are anxious to make their swan song a win over the conference leaders.

Since Chicago has announced its intention to claim a tie for the conference crown if both it and Illinois go through the remainder of the season undefeated or not tied, the Maroon practice for Northwestern has nothing short of an overwhelming victory in view. Northwestern, with Captain Bob Wienecke out with injuries aspired only to put up a stiff opposition.

It has slight hopes for victory.

Michigan considers that some upset to Chicago and Illinois yet may put the Wolverines back into serious consideration for the title and that its inspiration in preparing for Ohio State at Columbus. The game is the Buckeye homecoming and 65,000 seats in the Ohio stadium are engaged. Ohio's performance against Michigan is considered a possible criterion of its showing next week against Illinois.

Wisconsin is steeped in gloom as it grooms for Iowa. The Badger showing against Notre Dame is taken as a forecast of dismal futures in the games with the Hawkeyes and with Chicago next week. Meanwhile a measure of confidence permeates the Hawkeyes camp, where improvement of the line is Coach Ingwersens chief concern.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Wisconsin's football hopes this year are a minus quantity. The Badgers Saturday showed themselves unable to stand up under a strong attack and looked like a bunch of novices against Knute Rockne's Notre Dame eleven. This week they are seeking to repair the wreckage of Saturday's disastrous game sufficiently to at least make a good showing against Iowa at their homecoming.

It will be interesting to watch the outcome of the Iowa-Wisconsin game from an Appleton angle, because this contest will furnish a basis of comparison between the Blues and Badgers. Lawrence held the Hawkeyes to a 13 to 5 score several weeks ago.

Princeton meets Yale in the main contest of the east this week. After the Tiger's surprising defeat of Harvard Saturday, grid dopesters are at a loss as to how to figure the contest with the Bool Dog, but all of them concede the game should be one of the hardest battles in years.

Notre Dame is putting in double time this week in preparation for Nebraska. The Rocknemen were defeated by the Cornhuskers last year and will make a desperate effort to even the score Saturday. Had Rockne's crew wo nin 1923 they migh have had a strong claim on national honors.

Chicago is basing a claim on the Big Ten championship on its 21 to 21 tie with Red Grange and the Illini. The Maroons meet Northwestern Saturday at Chicago and expect little trouble in taking an overwhelming victory.

Philadelphia — Billy Ryan, Cincinnati welterweight, was awarded the decision over Bobby Barrett, Clifton Heights, Pa., in ten rounds.

Memphis—Gene Tunney, American lightheavyweight champion, knocked out Buddy McHale of St. Louis in two rounds.

High School Quints Of District Battle Here Mar. 12, 13, 14

Tournament of 1925 is Awarded Lawrence College according to Recent Announcement

Appleton basketball fans once more will have a chance to watch high school fives of this district fight for the championship and a chance in the state tourney, according to the recent announcement made by O. H. Plenzke, Menasha, district manager, that Lawrence college will have charge of the district tournament. The dates of the tourney have been set as Mar. 12, 13 and 14.

There are 23 high schools in the Appleton district, but not all of them will compete in the tourney. Eight or ten or the schools having the teams with best records are chosen to fight for the title, and the winner meets the leaders of the remaining districts in the state tournament for the Wisconsin high school championship. Besides Appleton the district includes Bear Creek, Brandon, Clintonville, West Green Bay, Chilton, Hilbert, Hortonville, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Medina, Manawa, Menasa, New London, New Holstein, Princeton, Seymour, Shiocton, Tigerton, West De Pere, Weyauwega, Wittenberg and Wrightstown.

The state is divided into 16 districts all of which will stage their tournaments on the same dates with the exception of Plattville and River Falls, which start a day earlier. The state tournament is to be held at Madison, Mar. 25, 26, 27 and 28.

Last year Brandon gave Appleton a close run with West Green Bay also a hard contendor. It is too early in the year to estimate the chances of the various schools now, none of them having turned out for practice.

A meetin gof directors of each district tourney will be held in Milwaukee next month to decide the final details.

PRINCETON-YALE GAME FEATURES PROGRAM IN EAST

Tiger's Overwhelming Victory Over Harvard Makes Dope Hopeless Puzzle

By Associated Press

New York—A stirring, account of the inter-collegiate football drama which has been unraveling its plot over the gridirons of the east for the past month, will be reached on Saturday when several contests seasoned with the zest of traditional rivalry are scheduled.

Foremost among the major contests in the east is the clash of the Tiger and the Bull Dog, scheduled for the Palmer Memorial stadium at Princeton. The Tiger's overwhelming victory over Harvard last Saturday which upset forecasts, has twisted the dope for this game into a hopeless puzzle.

Closely pressing this "Big Three" attraction, will be the meeting of Cornel and Dartmouth at the Polo grounds in New York, while followers of Columbia will watch West Point's new stadium where the Morningside Heights team will dedicate the amphitheatre with the Army as its host. Columbia's victory over New York university and the Army's close call against Florida makes this another puzling affair.

In Philadelphia where a dominating Quaker is carefully nursing an undefeated record. Penn State will meet Pennsylvania. Harvard will face Brown to sharpen its attack for Yale the following week. The Crimson will use only a partial varsity team. Navy will play Bucknell at Annapolis.

The meeting of Pittsburg and Washington and Jefferson at Pittsburg also will attract interest.

CHERRY BLOSSOMS TAKE TWO FROM NEENAH FIVE

Appleton Cherry Blossoms Sunday afternoon invaded Neenah where they took two out of three games from the Neenah Five in a match rolled on the Neenah alleys. They won the match by a 20-pin margin, losing the first game by 50 maples but making up in the second and third. E. Koerner of the Cherry Blossoms was high man with a 553 total.

The scores:

CHERRY BLOSSOMS	Won 2	Lost 1

E. Koerner, 182, 172, 199, 553; H. Wagner, 130, 194, 138, 462; R. Koester, 158, 128, 114, 400; P. Sell 198, 132 155 485; P. Manthey 150, 185, 212, 547 Totals 818, 811, 818, 2447.

CAGEING MOGULS CHANGE RULES OF GAME FOR SEASON

Umpire's Duties Are Increased and Subs Forbidden to Carry Orders

New York—In a statement issued here Monday by William H. Ball, chairman of the joint basketball committee, the outstanding changes in the new basketball rules adopted at the meeting were revised. The chief one follows:

"A substitute entering the game shall participate in the game before he may be withdrawn."

By the enforcement of this rule it is hoped that the practice of coaches sending men in solely with playing instructions and then immediately withdrawing them, will be obviated.

Section 11 of last Fear's rules has been rewritten to enlarge the duties of the umpire. This official may now be called by the referee to assist more energetically in the handling of a game.

Section 1 of rule 8 has also been revised as to the length of the intermission for high school and games played by younger boys. The revision provides a three minute extra period where necessary instead of the five minute period used for the older boys.

Section 3 of rule 9 provides for a one minute intermission before each extra period of play in a tie game.

Rule 7, section 9, was also changed to provide three ways of disposing of the ball, each depending upon the following play. The first is:

"If a player has to start a dribble, the ball must leave his hand before the pivot foot leaves the floor."

This directly contrary to last year's rules:

The second is:

"If a player has to pass or throw for goal, he may lift the pivot foot, or jump from both feet, but the ball must leave his hands before his feet again touch the floor."

The third change in this section is:

"In disposing of the ball by a player who was running when the ball was caught he (the player) may take one or two steps if, in the judgment of the referee, he stops as soon as possible or gets rid of the ball as soon as he can."

LAWRENCE CAGERS GET SET FOR CLASS JOUSTS

First call has been issued at Lawrence for entrants in the class basketball tournament, an annual affair of considerable importance to the students, scheduled to start Nov. 24. A. C. Denney, athletic director, has set Nov. 17 as the date on which all men who desire to enter will try out, and all those who fail to report on that day will be ineligible for the tourney.

GOPHER FIGHT BOARD WILL QUIZ SCHLAIFER

By Associated Press

St. Paul, Minn. — The Minnesota State Boxing commission planned Tuesday to call a meeting to question Morrie Schlaifer of Omaha who fouled Jock Malone, St. Paul, middleweight, in the third round of their scheduled ten-round bout here Monday night.

In the meanutime the commission seized Schlaifer's share of the purse, pending the investigation.

Malone sent Schlaifer to the floor with a right to the jaw in the third. The Omaha boxer arose dazed and hit Malone low. The referee offered the decision to Jock but the latter declined and continued his attack on Schlaifer. A moment later Schlaifer again hit low and Malone sank to the canvas. The referee awarded the fight to Malone.

MOUNT OLIVE BOYS COP THREE STRAIGHT GAMES

Mount Olive boys Sunday evening defeated the Neenah boys in three straight games rolled on the Neenah alleys, winning the match by a margin of 158 pins. W. Kuehl of the losing team rolled 513 for high total. Kahler of the Mount Olive team, led his five with 497.

The scores:

UNTIL YOU LOOK you can never imagine the wide variety of articles offered in the "Articles For Sale" column of the classified section.

A Cloud Of Dollar Bills

Dollar bills don't go floating through the air. We'd all take up aviation if they did.

But there's one place where a cloud of them does appear daily—and that's in the A-B-C Classified Section of the Post-Crescent.

Look up and down these classified columns. Look through the merchandise group, for instance. There are chances to save one, two, three, five—perhaps even ten dollars.

Then turn to the "Automobiles For Sale." More chances to save money! Surprisingly good cars are offered for quick sale at surprisingly low prices.

Next, take a quick glance at the business opportunities. Here are chances to MAKE money—which is surely just as good as saving money.

Just about by this time you are in an easy mood to believe you have stumbled upon another cloud with a silver lining!

HAY FEVER FUSSY BUT CONVEYS BOYS

Scout Truck Is Used on Jaunt to Lake Winnebago—Meetings Are Announced

Although there was considerable sputtering at first, Hay Fever finally yielded to the will of troop 5, boy scouts of All Saints church and took them to Lake Winnebago and back Saturday. The scout truck encountered ignition trouble at Darboy and spoiled a spark plug at Sherwood but made the remainder of the trip without trouble. This was its first journey since it was overhauled.

Six of the boys learned to cook meat and potatoes without dishes while the troop was camping near High Cliff. They passed the merit badge test which required preparation of one-fourth pound of meat and two potatoes without utensils. These boys were Robert, Mortimer, Vincent and Volmer Burgess, Dean Mory, Harvey Zimdars and Seymour Gmeiner.

Scout troops are holding their usual meetings this week with drill and instruction but a special event will take place when troop 5, All Saints church, convenes Friday night. Womens Relief corps will present a flag to the troop with appropriate ceremonies.

Troop No. 2 First Methodist church and troop No. 8. First Congregational church meet Tuesday evening, the former at 7 o'clock and the latter at 7:30. St. Mary church troop meets at 7 o'clock, troop No. 1, Kaukauna at 7 o'clock and troop No. 1 Neenah, at 7:30 Wednesday evening. Troop No. 5, All Saints church, troop No. 3, Neenah-Menasha, and troops Nos. 8 and 9, Menasha, meet Friday evening.

DEATHS

JOHN SCHUTTE

John Schutte of Lily, died at his home Monday morning following a paralytic stroke. He was known to quite a number of Appleton people, especially those who went north to hunt or fish. The funeral will be held Wednesday. Among those who will attend is Frank St. Andrews of this city.

MRS. MAYME BYERS

Mrs. Mayme Byers, a former resident of New London, died at her home in Madison on Friday. Mrs. Byers was a sister of Mrs. Maggie Thompson, Julius Smith and Miss Frances Smith of Appleton.

CHRIST EBERHART

Mr. and Mrs. George Eberhart, 658 Meade-st, have received word of the death of Mr. Eberhart's brother, Christ Eberhart, 69, which occured Sunday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Kraemer at Fond du Lac. Mr. and Mrs. Eberhart will attend the funeral, which will be at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in Fond du Lac.

SISTER TELLS HOW CROOK WAS CAUGHT

Sister of Urban Bergeron Unmasked Convict Who Posed as Her Brother

Milwaukee — A maze of contradictions about childhood incidents led to the exposure of Robert E St Clair, a convict in the Atlanta prison, who had posed as Urban Bergeron, a Menasha man reported killed in a World war battle.

Mrs Stella Emmerich, 140 Twenty-third-st, sister of Bergeron, just returned from Atlanta. She told of asking the imposter about his boyhood days in Menasha and how his fraud was discovered when he gave untrue answers. St. Clair is said to be a notorious confidence man. "My efforts to expose St. Clair's hoax were made difficult because my father and mother had implicit faith in his stories," Mrs. Emmerich said.

The aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bergeron, have been living in Atlanta and ministering to the needs of the man they believe to be their son.

"In away it was a shame to spoil their beautiful dream," said Mrs. Emmerich declared. "But to let a convict, a forger and a bigamist deceive them was too much."

MENASHA PEOPLE WANT NEW TAYCO-ST BRIDGE

Several accidents which have occurred on the narrow bridge crossing the Fox river on Tayco-st within the last few weeks, have caused the citizens of Menasha to urge the city council to construct a new swing bridge at that place at once.

The bridge, which is a part of state trunk highway 15 , joins the new bridge which spans the Fox and must accommodate heavy bus, streetcar and tourist traffic at all hours of the day and night. Because of the narrowness of the bridge severe congestion develops at the busy hours.

Because of the red tape which must be enccuntered before actual work can be started, the council is being urged to start planning immediately. At the present time a bridge of the bascule type is the favorite of Menasha citizens.

CORRECT MAILING LISTS FOR DIRECT ADVERTISERS

Notices are being sent by the Appleton postoffice to a number of out of town firms who are heavy users of the mails to inform them of the complete change of addresses to go into effect in Appleton on Feb. 1.

The postoffice officials request that the firms send in their old mailing lists for correction and revision, since the old lists will be incorrect after the city's changes in house numbers be comes effective.

Local firms whose Appleton mailing lists will become obsolete by the same change also may have their lists corrected by the postoffice at the customary rate of 60 cents an hour for the clerical work,it was announced.

KEEP DOGS OUT OF WOODS WHERE THERE ARE DEER

Hunters must keep their dogs out of the woods between Nov. 8 and 28 in all counties which have an open deer season, according to a warning from the conservation commission. Beginning tomorrow, even rabbits cannot be hunted with dogs in such counties, without a flagrant violation of the statutes. In counties where there is no legal hunting season on deer, however, dogs may be used in the woods during the next twenty days. Door, Brown, Keweunee, Manitowoc and Outagamie-cos are all closed to deer hunters.

Nation Must Be Strong To Keep The Peace, Legion Leaders Say

BY JAMES A. DRAIN
National Commander, The American Legion

SIX years ago today the peoples of the world's nations rejoiced as only those who have suffered long may rejoice. Prayers—prayers full of strength and sincerity—burst from millions of throats that such a blight on the world as had just ended should never again blacken the pages of history.

Six years ago tomorrow those same people started to forget. The lesson that four years of terror, famine and heartlessness had taught began to disappear.

The price in lives to our country, almost 300 000 killed, wounded and diseased, was lost sight of in the rush to regain pre-war levels. There was excess cost in money to billions on billions. The country had paid thus dearly for its impatience with anything resembling preparedness That fact is unescapable

We men of the American Legion, who know how terrible war is count it among our blessings, that ours is a peaceful nation

We may be depended upon to help keep it at peace by every means that fits with honor.

But we know, as none can better know, that if this nation is to protect its own life and be able to enforce its will for good upon recalcitrant nations, it must be strong, not only in purpose but in sound military preparation for the inevitable war which will some day be forced upon us.

JAMES A. DRAIN

Today is Armistice day.

All the world remembers what happened six years ago today. Early in the morning of that day word was flashed around the world that the greatest war in all history of mankind had ended. What a celebration followed that announcement In Appleton and everywhere the people loosed their pent up feelings in a demonstration that dwarfed anything ever heard or seen before.

Long before the first rays of the sun had illuminated Appleton the streets were alive with people. Whistles shrieked gloriously, church bells pealed the happy tidings and everywhere people were shouting, laughing, crying, praying, giving vent to happiness which knew no bounds.

The world has settled down to its routine of peace in the six years since that eventful day, but there are in America millions of men for whom Amristice day will forever be a vivid spot in their memory. Armistice day meant much to these men and it still means a great deal. They who were on the battlefront when the war ended have watched carefully and eagerly the exents which have taken place since then. What they think of Armistice day and what the day should mean to America in contained in the statements of American Legion leaders printed herewith.

BY L. HUGO KELLER
Commander, State Department American Legion

Six years ago today every agency of communication was pressed into service to advise a war weary world that hostilities had ceased Excited dispatch bearers bore this message to the combat troops and gradually it was relayed to every unit and outpost in the shell torn areas. Men who had lived in that hell fire of destruction for days and weeks and months, scarcely believed those tidings. Everywhere could be heard the cry "Finis la Gueerre"—"The War is Over."

To the average citizen, the war was over with the cessation of hostilities. To some, the war can never be over. Last week I visited a hospital and as I passed from cot to cot and observed the blind, those with arms off, those with legs off and some whose minds have been impaired by the shock of battle, I realized that so far as they were concerned the war could never be over.

Armistice Day has a tender significance to the American Legion On it each member rededicates himself to the purposes for which it was formed. He repeats his pledge to ever care for his disabled Buddy, he takes new inspiration from the loyalty of those comrades who layed down their lives upon the altar of patriotism and he prays and hopes for the coming of that day when the world shall have that peace which passeth all understanding.

BY T. H. MORRISSEY
Commander, Olney Johnston Post American Legion

Armistice Day—Peace Day—is here again. The World pauses for a moment in her stride in momory of the day six years ago when the last gun of the most frightful of all wars was fired, and with the fervent hope that a way would be found for a permanent peace.

To us—comrades of the World war—this is a glorious day as Americans first, but also as veterans of a war fought victoriously, for a righteous cause and a better world.

As Veterans we are grateful for peace—a peace with honor—and on this our day let us again pledge our Allegiance to our constitution, our flag and our country.

T. H. Morrissey.

Will Pick Delegates

J. W. Doyle, William Bieler and John Hertel were appointed as a committee to select delegates to a meeting of barbers in Madison in the near future, at the meeting of the Barbers union Monday evening in Trades and Labor hall. Other routine matters of business came up for discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zuehlke of Milwaukee were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Zuehlke, 723 Bennett-st, over the weekend.

Flashes Out Of The Air

Harry Snodgrass, king of the fiddles, who was the big attraction in the concert played by WOS Monday night will have enough smokes to last him the rest of his life if all the radio listeners who promised to send him cigarets and cigars do so. About every set in town tuned in for Harry's program Monday night and heard the announcer read telegrams from all over the United States.

Zion's great rebuilt organ, one of the finest in the country, will be rededicated Thursday night and the program is to be radiocast by WCBD.

WCAL presented a splendid Armistice day program Monday night. The Northfield American Legion post fife and drum corps made a lot of racket in front of the mike and there were talks, music and songs.

WBZ is scheduled to radiocast "Rheinhold," as sung by the English Opera Co. at Symphony hall in Boston. The program will start at 7:15, central time.

People who like violin music should tune in for WBAP. Fort Worth, Texas, about 9:30 tonight. A violin ensemble is to furnish the program for the evening.

New Woolens That Are Very Smart

The newest woolens arrived late last week. Striped flannels are particularly important in these showings—and many English weaves are here in distinctive sport patterns. You must see these fresh displays.

New striped flannels and worsteds are shown in the most fashionable color combinations. There are also patterns in plaids and barrings—combining the most popular colors of the season. These materials are full 56 inches wide. They are special value at Only $3.95 a yard.

New imported French wool crepes will be popular with women who like distinctive fabrics. These wool crepes come in soft grey, tan and green—with a wide stripe pattern that combines many harmonious shades. So unusual a material is a real find, and only $5.50 a yard.

These imported English materials come in the smartest of sport stripings. These patterns are called "candy stripes" and they combine the most harmonious colors. This material is 56 inches wide and makes the smartest of sport frocks. Only $5. a yard.

Plain colors in flannels are as popular as ever. In addition to the well-known weave that has been used so much this season, there are new herringbone weaves. These herringbone flannels come in tile, rust, tan and green at $3.95. Other flannels at $1.55 and $3.95.

Brightly Colored Silk Hats to Wear Gayly on Cold Days

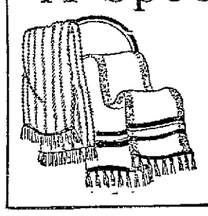

$3.95 and $5

OF ALL THE NEW HATS—brightly colored silk ones are the newest and smartest of the month. If the color be gay crimson—it will look all the better with a fur coat, or a cloth coat of dark color. In the Winter season—no attempt is made to match coat and hat colors, but to contrast them. The brighter the hat—the smarter it will be. This new style follows the lines of Autumn hats, with new crowns and fashionable brims. This colorful style is not confined to younger women, but is equally popular with the matronly wearer:

Many hats achieve additional color with metalic trimmings and jeweled ornaments. Gold and silver brocades are often used to carry out the brilliant effect. Small turbans are especially successful in the use of these metallic combinations. These hats are all new—they were shown first yesterday—and they are fine in quality. The low prices of $3.95 and $5 are attractive There are other hats of this type as high as $15.
